SAUSALITO'S BAYSIDE

School Is Fire, Quake Hazard

Sausalito's Bayside School is a rundown fire and earthquake hazard that would cost $210,000 to rehabilitate to meet building code standards, according to a San Rafael engineer who just finished a structural study of the school.

On hearing the report last night, the Sausalito School District Board ordered a special meeting Dec. 7 to discuss closing the school immediately and moving students into other quarters — including tents if necessary.

Bayside, which houses five first grade classes, was due to be abandoned and replaced, but a $1.4 million building bond issue was beaten at the polls last month.

Last night's report on Bayside, by H. M. Engle of San Rafael, was a preliminary to setting a tax eletion early next year.

According to Engle, the school would collapse in a sharp earthquake, and the furnace room is "a serious hazard" because a gas explosion would "wreck much of the east wing with resultant loss of life."

The building has no sprinkler system, Engle found, and walls are not fireproof for one hour as legally required. The uninterrupted heating ducts would spread a furnace fire throughout the school, Engle said.

He found rotted wood in several places, and gave a long list of items which would have to be replaced.

An auxiliary report by Robert P. Ritter of San Rafael recommended total replacement of plumbing, the heating system and the electrical system at a cost of $70,000.

The total repair estimate of $210,000 was more than 75 per cent of the estimated replacement cost.

"I'm in favor of getting out of the school tomorrow," board member Nathaniel Johnson said. "I want to come out of that school right now."

Supt. Phillip W. Schneider was told to get information on other buildings available, the possibility of going to double sessions at another school, using portable classrooms or getting tents to house the Bayside classes. The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday at the district office to talk about closing Bayside immediately.

Schneider told the board earlier, when the Engle report was summarized, that without the bond money the only way to replace Bayside for next year would be with lease-purchased portables which will cost approximately $99,000 and be paid off over seven years.

The board accepted that figure which will add an estimated 5 cents to the tax rate, and agreed to add another 15 cents for future salary raises. It then voted to call a tax election for March 5, when district voters will be asked to approve a tax rate of $2.45 per $100 assessed valuation — a 20-cent tax boost — for an indefinite period.

Board President David E. Freedheim told the board Sausalito is the only sizeable district in Marin which is still on a limited-term tax approval.

Remapping Bill Voted

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A revised congressional reapportionment bill squeezed out of the Assembly and to the Senate today on a 43-29 vote after six roll calls.

Most Republicans opposed the measure, but enough of them joined Democrats in approving the bill.

Minnesotan's Pledge: Fight Vietnam Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy launched his presidential campaign today on a platform of opposition to U.S. policy in Vietnam and said there is "a good possibility" someone other than President Johnson will be the Democratic nominee in 1968.

McCarthy told a news conference if he is not the man, it could be Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

The senator from Minnesota announced he will enter four, possibly six, presidential primaries in 1968.

"I think there's a good chance we can win two or three primaries," he said.

McCarthy denied he is entering the primaries as a stalking horse to clear the way for Robert Kennedy. But he said Kennedy might fall heir to support built up by his campaign.

State Acts On Muir Park Land

The state yesterday condemned Muir Beach for use as a park and asked Marin Superior Court to set a price for the ocean front property.

The action was authorized by an Oct. 3 resolution of the State Public Works Board, which had previously authorized purchase of the land, but only through negotiation.

The property, estimated at 19 acres, will be part of the $4 million expansion of Mount Tamalpais State Park.

STATE BUYERS

First indication that condemnation proceedings might be required came Oct. 5, with the disclosure by Stuart R. Doyle, attorney by the beach's 10 owners, that state buyers and his clients were $50,000 from agreement on a purchase price.

Marin County officials had announced last July that purchase of the beach was imminent.

That prediction came only a month after a Marin County woman annonymously donated $125,000, half the generally recognized price of the property at that time.

Dole said in October that his "conservation-oriented" clients were asking $250,000 for the land, even though their appraisal placed the value at $310,000.

HIGHER PRICE

State land agent Joseph L. Mickelson said the State Department of General Services, acting as purchaser for the parks and recreation department, had two appraisals which fixed the value "in the area of $200,000.

Dole warned in October that the state ran the risk of paying a higher price if it condemned the land instead of negotiating

Marin County's population passed the 200,000 mark this year, it was reported today by the state Department of Finance.

A 3 per cent increase in population between July 1, 1966 and July 1, 1967, took place, with 5,900 persons being added to the county.

The total population was listed at 201,200, as of July 1.

12-Hour Lockup By Unruh

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly told Gov. Ronald Reagan today, after the sharpest legislative battle of his term, that he should keep full Medi-Cal benefits flowing to needy Californians.

Speaker Jesse M. Unruh and fellow Democrats had to lock the lower house in a bitter 12-hour session to do it.

At last, only 47 minutes before the agreed-on midnight deadline for voting, they got the 41st and final tally needed for passage of their remedy to financial problems in the state's health care plan for the poor.

ENLISTS PATROL

Unruh had to enlist highway patrolmen and a chartered jet plane to get absent Democrats to Sacramento in time to cast their needed votes. A flat tire could have foiled the whole plan.

The Inglewood Democrat went to such lengths in retaliation for Republicans' refusal to waiver from Reagan's desire to cut Medi-Cal benefits.

CAN IGNORE

The resolution requests Reagan to maintain present Medi-Cal benefits while a penetrating audit is conducted to determine whether the plan faces a serious deficit. Reagan contends it does.

McNamara Switch To Bank Official

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — President Johnson says major U.S. defense policies are clearly defined for the man who will succeed Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, quitting the Pentagon for the World Bank's presidency.

But a triple play of announcements by the World Bank, White House and McNamara last day night left in a fog some of the more intriguing aspects of the defense chief's switch in ent ported

McNamara will take over the presidency of the 107-nation World Bank after he finishes his work on the fiscal 1969 defense budget next year, probably sometime in February or shortly after.

President Johnson maintained "the course of our participation in the war in Vietnam is firmly set, major defense policies are clearly defined" and McNamara's successor—not yet named—can carry on in McNamara's tracks "without loss of momentum or effectiveness."

Outgoing President George D. Woods of the World Bank sounded out McNamara last April 18. McNamara indicated his interest in the post. He discussed it with Johnson, offering to stay at the Pentagon "as long as he felt it necessary."

About mid-October, Johnson asked McNamara is he still was interested. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler had prodded Johnson for the U.S. nomination for the World Bank presidency.

McNamara told Johnson he was still interested. The nomination went forward to the bank. Its 20 executive directors voted unanimously last night to offer the $40,000-a-year job to McNamara, after the French representative reportedly delayed to check with Paris. A delegation headed by Woods called on McNamara at the Pentagon.

The White House statement, issued under Johnson's name, called McNamara a "great administrator of the defense establishment . . . wise, resource-

Hail, Rain Storms Blow Into County

Hail flurries and a half to three-quarters of an inch of rain in most parts of the county last night accompanied the continuing first winter storm of the season. There were reports of only slight damage.

The stormy weather is expected to diminish tonight with partial clearing tomorrow and warmer temperatures.

Hail was reported in several parts of Marin County during the night, including Fairfax, San Geronimo, San Rafael, Ross and San Anselmo, and again this morning, when most people were getting ready to go to work. A film of tiny hail covered the ground from Ross General

Copter Gunships Push Reds Back In Jungle

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas operating near the Cambodian border launched a rocket, mortar and ground assault on an American battalion near Bo Duc today.

U.S. helicopter gunships and dragonship planes, firing by the light of flares, sprayed the charging Viet Cong with streams of fire and drove them back into the jungles 90 miles north of Saigon—the second Communist defeat at Bo Duc in two days.

The barrage which preceded the Communist assault hit the Americans with 125 rounds of mortar fire and 18 rounds of 122 millimeter rocket fire. The rockets (five inch) are the biggest weapon in the Communist arsenal and experts said it was possible they were fired from Cambodia. Size of the rockets was determined by measurement of the craters.

The ground fighting which followed the barrage killed seven Americans and wounded 11. A spokesman said 31 Viet Cong bodies were found.

U.S. officials also reported American battle deaths in the Vietnam war have topped the 15,000 mark. They said 212 Americans died in combat last week. Another 1,242 suffered wounds and 66 were added to the missing list.

At Dak To, the Cambodian border area bastion 280 miles north of Saigon and the center of the war's longest and bloodiest campaign the past three weeks, South Vietnamese Rangers reported killing 130 North Vietnamese in two battles Wednesday.

U.S. officials also reported American jet fighter-bombers flew 90 missions against North Vietnam yesterday despite heavy monsoon clouds and intensive anti aircraft fire. The planes hit supply sites around Dien Bien Phu, site of France's

Charles G. Enyart Seeks Storer's Post

Charles G. (Chuck) Enyart, 37, of Forest Knolls, who says much county spending is "unnecessary and duplicating," declared his candidacy today for the seat on the board of supervisors held by Thomas T. Storer.

Enyart is a truck driver with Ghilliotti Bros., San Rafael contractors. He belongs to the newly formed Irate Taxpayers of Marin and Teamsters Local 624.

It is Enyart's first try at public office. He has a wife and four children.

"It's time to do something about high taxes," Enyart said. "I will work to put government back into the hands of the people and the elected officials instead of the appointed officials."

William W. Perry, maintenance man with the City Sewer Service of Point Reyes Sation, announced his candidacy for Storer's seat yesterday.

Storer has said he will seek a second term next June.

Malaysia Riots End

MANILA (AP) — Five soldiers and two civilians were killed by heavily armed Huk terrorists today in an ambush in Bulacan Province near Manila, the national constabulary reported.

Rights Chief Leaves Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Doar, long embroiled in controversy as the man who led the federal drive toward civil rights in the South, is leaving the Justice Department to enter private practice.

Doar

President Johnson yesterday named Stephen J. Pollak, 39, a former Doar assistant and now a special aide to Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, to replace Doar as head of the department's Civil Rights Division.

Doar, 45, has headed the division since April 1965. As the division's No. 2 man earlier, he was a well-known figure in the federal effort to enforce civil rights laws.

Pollak

Perhaps his most dramatic moment on the job came when he persuaded a crowd of Negroes in Jackson, Miss., to lay down the arms they had taken up while bent on revenging the slaying of civil rights leader Medger W. Evers.

Mia Farrow Out Of Movie Role

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mia Farrow, separated from husband Frank Sinatra, has been replaced in his new movie by a British newcomer.

Richard Zanuck, production chief at 20th Century-Fox, announced yesterday that Jacqueline Bissett, 22, will play the role originally set for Mrs. Sinatra.

Miss Bissett

Production on the film, "The Detectives," was shut down last week when filming of Miss Farrow's role in "Rosemary's Baby" ran over schedule. It was not known whether film schedule conflicts or the Sinatras' personal difficulties were the reason for the replacement of the 22-year-old actress.

Miss Bissett, a brunette, made her movie debut in "Two for the Road."

Nigeria Still Is Divided

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Biafra today completed its first six months of independence amid signs the next six months may be the hardest and last.

Nigeria's former eastern region, which seceded in May after a year of tribal suspicion and murder, so far has survived the "swift, surgical operation" launched by Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, head of Nigeria's military government, in an effort to put Nigeria together again.

News from the area is scarce but there are few signs of cracking, despite the federal army thrust which has occupied a third of the 29,000 square miles of Africa's newest but still unrecognized republic.

Discrimination Risk

PARIS (AP) — The grand rabbi of France, Jacob Kaplan, charged last night that President Charles de Gaulle risked touching off a wave of anti-Jewish discrimination when he accused Israel of being the aggressor in the June war and of having "secular predispositions of domination."

Jewish Youth And Business Life Outlook

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Jewish young men seeking careers in business share the attitudes of their gentile contemporaries towards money, leadership, risk-taking and other aspects of business life, according to study released yesterday.

The study, prepared by Dr. Rose K. Doldsen, a Cornell University sociologist, was made public by the American Jewish Committee, which opens its annual four-day national convention today.

The study says religious identity plays a subordinate role in shaping attitudes toward business.

Philip E. Hoffman, a Newark, N.J., attorney and real estate executive and chairman of the committee's executive board, said the report debunked much of the prejudice towards Jews prevalent in the American business community.

". . . Jewish young men, contrary to the mischievously inaccurate stereotypes, turn out to be much like other American young men. . ." Hoffman said.

The study drew on the career motivations of 30,000 college seniors of various religious and ethnic backgrounds at 135 universities. Dr. Goldsen chose a special sample for the subject of her study—a study of 1,622 male, business-bound students who met certain criteria.

She concluded that Jewish college students heading for business have essentially the same motivations as non-Jewish students, and refuted the idea that Jews are in too much of a hurry for success to last out the corporate ladder.

Pledge Protest Changes Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Negro pupil's protest has prompted Washington educators to relax their requirement for recital of the pledge of allegiance at the start of each school day.

Civil liberties supporters sought the change on behalf of a 15-year-old girl who refused to salute the flag. The girl contended Negroes are denied the "liberty and justice for all" attributed to the United States in the pledge.

The District of Columbia Board of Education changed its regulations to continue the daily pledge of allegiance, but to exempt students declining to take part from any form of punishment or reprimand.

Accord On Cyprus; Mediators Leaving

COMBINED AP & UPI

ATHENS — The peacemakers headed home today, reporting that the threat of war between Turkey and Greece over Cyprus is over.

U.S. envoy Cyrus Vance flew from Cyprus to Athens.

Secretary-General Manlio Brosio of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, told newsmen substantial understanding between the Greek and Turkish governments had been reached and the danger of conflict no longer exists.

The third peace seeker, Jose Rolz Bennett of the United Nations, left for New York.

Vance had flown to Nicosia before dawn yesterday, reportedly to get a quick yes or no from Makarios on the proposals. But it was early today before he emerged from meetings with the leader of the island's Greek Cypriot majority.

Turkey still was poised for the invasion it threatened after a battle on the island Nov. 15 in which 27 Turkish Cypriots and two Greek Cypriots were killed.

But Greece changed the orders to its armed forces on its 80-mile border with Turkey from "combat alert" to simple "readiness" and the tension eased among the Greek soldiers.

Vance's mediation was reported to have produced Greek acceptance of Turkish terms. Ankara demanded 10,000 Greek troops on Cyprus go home promptly. The Turks demanded Gen. George Grivas, the firebrand commander of Greek Cypriot forces on Cyprus, stay forever off the island. Ankara demanded Turkish Cypriots who suffered from Greek Cypriot attacks on two villages—in action that triggered the crisis—be paid damages.

The Turks demanded the United Nations supervise the disarming of all Cypriot factions and that Greece as well as Turkey respect the independence of Cyprus.

According to Athens reports, Greek leaders agreed. But Makarios had been reported balking.

Suspended Students Get ACLU Aid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union planned to file suit today challenging the right of San Francisco State College to suspend two students charged with publishing an offensive poem in a campus newspaper.

Attorney Marshall Krause said the ACLU suit would be halted if President John H. Summerskill reinstates Blair Paltridge, editor of Open Process, and Jefferson Poland, author of the controversial poem.

RIGHTS VIOLATION

According to the ACLU, the students' civil rights were violated because they were suspended without a hearing. Krause likened the situation to "executing a man without a trial."

Under college rules, however, the students will get a hearing before the Board of Appeals and Review.

Summerskill said he suspended the students and closed the paper because the poem "referred to a member of the faculty in a context which was offensive to members of the academic community."

Although no explanation was given, the poem was dedicated to the school's director of health education.

GRAPE COVERING

In addition, the paper included a picture of Poland, 27, covered only by a bunch of grapes.

Poland is the founder of the Sexual Freedom League and the paper's columnist on sexual matters.

Open Process was suspended last spring following an issue which featured pictures of a nude woman and abounded in four-letter words.

McCARTHY

Nebraska May 14, Oregon May 28 and California June 4.

McCarthy said he will announce in two or three weeks whether he also will enter the primaries in New Hampshire March 12 and Massachusetts April 30.

McCarthy said he expects to be a candidate in one or the other, perhaps both, so that his drawing power will be tested in all parts of the nation.

McCarthy said the challenge to Johnson will be carried to the Democratic national convention next year no matter what the outcome of the primaries.

Would he step aside should Robert Kennedy drop his current refusal to enter the race and become a candidate?

"I don't know whether it would be a question of stepping aside. It might be less voluntary than that," McCarthy said.

He said his determination to challenge Johnson "has been strengthened by recent announcements from the administration of plans for continued escalation and intensification of the war in Vietnam."

On the other hand, he continued, there has been an "absence of any positive indications or suggestions for a compromise or negotiated political settlement."

He expressed concern that "the administration seems to have set no limits on the price it will pay for military victory."

McCarthy said he did not see his opposition to Johnson as a threat to the unity and strength of the party.

"The issue of the war in Vietnam is not a separate issue but is one which must be dealt with in the configuration of problems in which it occurs," McCarthy said.

He said he was not advocating peace at any price but wanted "an honorable, rational and political solution to this war."

He listed what he called war costs to date.

They included "the physical destruction of much of a small, weak nation by the military operations of the most powerful nation on this earth."

McCarthy also cited more than 15,000 combat dead and more than 94,000 wounded among U.S. forces; 100,000 to 150,000 civilian casualties in South Vietnam alone and U.S. expenditures between $2 billion and $3 billion a month.

Dog Hitting Case May Be Dropped

Jury trial of James Richard Hassal Jr., 42, accused of dog beating, has been taken off the Marin Municipal Court calendar for possible dismissal of the charge.

Hassall, former teacher in the Bolinas-Stinson School District, alledgedly beat a dog owned by James C. Gibson of 85 Dogwood Lane in Bolinas Mesa.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua Thomas said today a girl who allegedly witnessed the crime has moved to Canada with her family and left no forwarding address.

The case is scheduled for the Municipal Court criminal calendar Dec. 14 to be dismissed or reset for jury trial.

Students Hear Of Birch Society

Gary Woodward, Larkspur engineer and member of the John Birch Society, told senior government classes at Redwood High School yesterday of the philosophy, purpose, and goals of the society.

Woodward said there are two struggles in the world at the present time, morality versus a morality and individualism versus collectivism.

The American people, he said, have become more and more bent toward the will of the majority, rather than thinking for themselves. Promotion of individual thought is one of the goals of the Birch society, he said, but the education of the American people against Communism is its primary purpose.

French Product Boycott Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Two leaders from opposite sides of the political fence have urged a boycott of all products made in France "until that miserable old man, Charles de Gulle, stop stepping on our toes."

The action was proposed yesterday by Joseph Martin Jr., former Republican national committeeman from California, and Roger Kent of Kentfield, past chairman of the State Democratic Committee.

Their joint statement, issued at a news conference, said, "Providing De Gaulle with dollars is like buying ammunition for a homicidal lunatic."

Segregation Alleged At Marin Plant

Charges alleging discrimination against Negroes at the San Rafael plant of Fairchild Semiconductor have been filed with the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission and the General Services Administration by the Richmond branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Among the allegations:

Negro women are kept segregated from white women and are assigned the more arduous, monotenous and dangerous jobs.

Joseph Howerton, field director for NAACP, said today Fairchild had been under contintuous investigation since 1962 as a result of complaints by Richmond members of NAACP who were either employees or former employees of the company.

Because of an inability to resolve some of the problems, it was decided to file charges both with the EEOC and the General Services Administration with which the company does work.

Howerton said that Negroes were subject to additional tests on being hired for work and were not being allowed to qualify for higher grades to which they were entitled due to lenght of service.

He reported one girl was fired when her brother was arrested for a narcotics offense although a white woman, arrested for shoplifting in Richmond, continues to be employed.

About 40 per cent of the payroll at Fairchild is Negro, said Howerton, and they live in Richmond, Vallejo and other cities in the East Bay.

A spokesman for the Fairchild Semiconductor said today he knew nothing about the charges.

resolution. It is not binding on him.

Meanwhile, Reagan is pressing for legislative authority to proceed with cutbacks in Medi-Cal benefits, but isn't likely to get it in view of solid Democratic opposition.

The final vote on the resolution was 41-37.

The last man in was Assemblyman John D. Knox, D-Richmond, who drove from San Francisco to cast his "aye" ballot. About 20 weary colleagues were on hand when the vote was officially recorded at 11:13 p.m. That was more than 10 and one-half hours after the first tally was taken.

Earlier in the evening, two missing assemblymen were hustled to Sacramento.

Highway patrolmen flagged down Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, D-San Pedro, who was driving home from Sacramento. Thomas was flown back to the capitol in a chartered jet.

Thomas said he contacted Unruh and was told, "you have to come back."

"So I did," Thomas added.

After his vote, Thomas criticized the current special session as "one of the worst sessions I've seen." Then he got back on the plane and flew south.

Assemblyman Ken MacDonald, D-Ojai, hurried back from meetings in Washington, D.C.

Nothing like it had happened since Unruh locked up Republicans in the Assembly chamber overnight in the fiery 1936 budget battle.

1954 military disaster and oil dumps near the major port of Haiphong.

No losses were reported in the raids yesterday. However, military spokesmen announced new figures for combat losses that included a total of 758 warplanes lost over North Vietnam and 215 downed in the South since U.S. planes began bombing the country two years ago. This year alone, 307 planes have been shot down over the North.

Marijuana Case Goes To Court

Jacke Victor Levine, 25, of 112 Spruce Road, Fairfax, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of possession of marijuana.

Fairfax Police Chief James Orr said the charge stemmed from an early morning search Nov. 22, in Levine's absence, which netted a quantity of marijuana and narcotics.

Searching officers reportedly found 11 partially smoked marijuana cigarettes, plus a small bottle half-filled with the herb and a coffee can with a half cup of marijuana.

Levine is scheduled to enter a plea to the charge Tuesday.

ful, prudent" and said, "I shall miss him greatly."

McNamara's statement described the defense chief as "profoundly grateful to the port and friendship."

But neither formal statement did much to confirm or dispel speculation that McNamara was being thrown to the Vietnam war hawks—that he is being eased out because Johnson purportedly is siding more and more with the military chiefs.

And from the White House a spokesman for the President today again labeled as "nonsense" continued speculation that McNamara was "eased out" because of opposition to escalation of the war.

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, also denied McNamara's departure would signal any major change in conduct of the war.

"We have no intention or recommendation to change the present character of the bombing campaign," Wheeler said.

for its purchase. Juries usually hold in high regard the value of recreation land, he said.

The condemnation action, filed in Superior Court yesterday, names as defendants Doyle, as representative of the owners; Marin County Abstract and Title Co., as trustee for the the deed; John P. and Lucienne M. O'Brien as beneficiaries of the deed; Marin County, for any possible tax liens against the land; 20 John Does and 20 unidentified corporations.

"Acquisition (of the land) is necessary and proper for the extension, improvement and development of the state park system," the action said.

Though privately owned, the beach area has been open to the public for several years at payment of a fee.

Wife Again Sues Real Estate Man

William A. Timmer, Marin County real estate broker, was sued again for separate maintenance by his third wife, Louise, in Marin Superior Court yesterday.

It was the fourth time in two years that Mrs. Timmer has brought an action against her husband. They were wed. Oct. 20, 1962, in Las Vegas, Nev.

She sued for divorce in September 1965 and June 1966. In February, she sued for separate maintenance instead.

In yesterday's action, she alleged cruelty and asked for $1,500 a month support and her share of community property.

She estimated that Timmer earns more than $50,000 a year and said she believes he is seeking to dispose of or conceal real and personal community property.

She asked the court to restrain Timmer from this and to order him to turn over to her accountant his books and records.

She said they last separated on Nov. 15.

Timmer operates a real estate office at 901 B Street, San Rafael.

Police Checking Airman's Death

TIJUANA, Mexico (UPI) — Police examined an empty gasoline can and book matches today for clues to how a young Air Force enlisted man apparently burned himself to death on a hillside.

Papers on the charred body identified the victim as James L. Thornton, 24, Anaheim. In his pockets were military orders sending him to Vietnam Dec. 6.

Thornton, an Airman first class, was due to report to Hamilton Air Force Base Dec. 3 for three days of instruction on firing the M-16 rifle, a standard training procedure for all Air Force personnel assigned to Vietnam.

Shirley Asking Write-In Halt

WOODSIDE (UPI) — Shirley Temple Black yesterday asked her ardent supporters to end their efforts to have her name written-in at the Dec. 12 congressional runoff election.

The former child movie star was defeated in the Nov. 14 special election by fellow Republican Paul N. McCloskey, who will oppose Democrat Roy A. Archibald in the runoff.

In her statement disavowing further candidacy Mrs. Black said she thought the first reports of write-in activities were "only isolated indications of voter protest."

Medi-Cal Funds Restored For Psychiatric Care

Funds cut from Medi-Cal on Sept. 1 which curtailed out-patient psychiatric care have been restored, Mary Ann Salwa of the Marin County Department of Scoial Services told the Mental Health Advisory Board last night.

She said that priority is now being given to patients whose needs were considered most pressing at the time of the cuts.

The advisory board also heard a description of the new Marin Foundation Home by Mrs. Anna Marie Long, executive deirector, and voted to ask the board of supervisors to contract with the home for care of youngsters.

A special meeting of the board was set for Dec. 8 to discuss how state Short-Doyle funds which would have been used for the Family Rehabilitation Center, which will be phased out by Jan. 1, could best be utilized on other county projects.

Tape Recorder, TV Set Stolen

Marin County Sheriff's Office today reported three burglaries in the unincorporated area of the county.

Someone stole a $365 tape recorder from the car of Richard S. Brown of 16 Morning Sun Avenue, Homestead Valley, while the car was parked in his carport Nov. 22, deputies said. Brown reported the theft Tuesday.

Thieves on Monday stole a television set, camera, radio and binoculars, all worth $375, from the home of William D. Schell at 326 Lovell Avenue, Homestead Valley, according to deputies. The thief entered through an unlocked front door, they said.

Forrest A. Bruten of 11 Andrew Drive, Apt. 40, Little Reed Heights, complained to deputies Tuesday that someone stole the auto stereo set from his car parked in the carport that day.

Sportsman Hertz Dies At Age 84

Funeral for Douglas Grant Hertz, 84, world sports figure, owner of the Atherton Club in Novato and former owner of the Bolema Club in West Marin, will be at 1 p.m. tomorrow at the Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato.

Hertz died of a heart attack Tuesday at a local hospital.

In his colorful lifetime, Hertz survived the sinking of the Lusitania, managed heavyweight boxers, owned a professional football club and was an avid horseman.

He was born in Sutton, England, and served in the British Cavalry as a lieutenant in the Boer War. He was stationed in India at the outbreak of World War I and was on the Lusitania when it was sunk May, 7, 1915, with the loss of 1,000 lives. He was rescued 18 hours after the sinking.

Hertz moved to this country in 1920. He founded a polo club in Rockleigh, N.J., and owned the New York Yankees professional football team in the American Football League from 1936 to 1941.

He managed boxers Jack Johnson and Jersey Joe Walcott, before the latter won the heavyweight title.

He kept a stable of several hundred horses in the heart of Manhattan for several years.

Hertz came to California in 1953 and founded the Bolema Club, a hunting and fishing preserve, on 1,120 acres. It was later purchased by the federal government for $1,350,000 to become part of Point Reyes National Seashore.

Hertz claimed that he introduced dog racing to the United States when he founded a racing club on Staten Island. He also claimed to have introduced the Cornish game hen to hunter's and at one time was a partner in a business to raise them in the East Bay.

After selling the Bolema Club, he founded the Atherton club, the Atherton School of Riding and the Atherton Land and Development Co. He listed his occupation as a consultant in land and recreation development.

He is survived by his wife, Jean, at home, 546 Atherton Avenue, Novato, and one sister in England.

Hertz was a member of the Black Point Improvement Club and the Novato Horsemen's Association.

Private interment will be at Marin Memorial Gardens in Novato. The family prefers contributions to the Marin County Heart Association.

Viet Veteran Takes Position At Hamilton

Col. James B. Raebel, who flew combat missions with the Vietnamese Air Force, has been assigned to Hamilton Air Force Base, starting today, as inspector general for the Fourth Air Force.

He replaces Col. Wayne E. Thurman who retired.

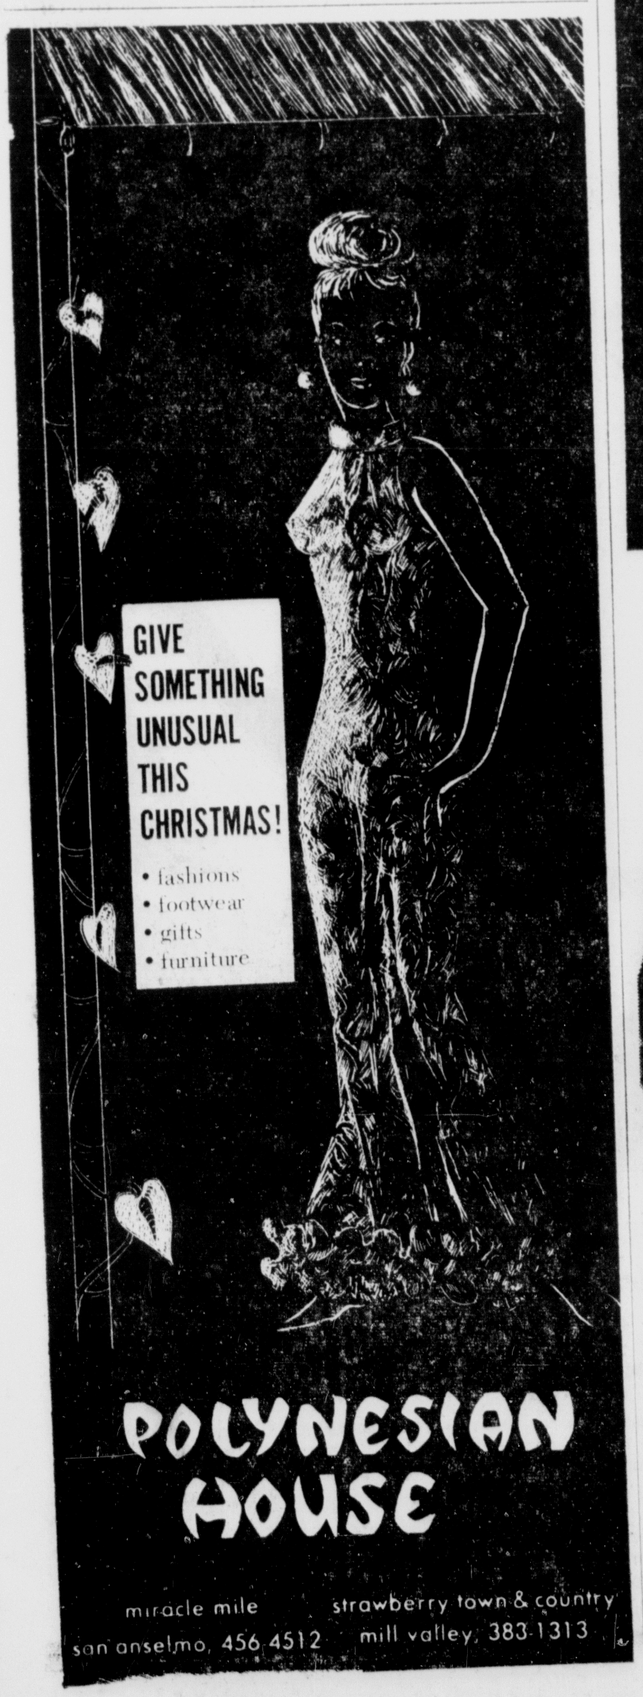

Col. Raebel was stationed at Tan Son Nhut Air Base in Vietnam prior to coming to Hamilton. During his year's tour of duty there, he was the deputy chief of the air force advisory group in Viernam. He inspected every Vietnamese base and the air force advisory teams stationed throughout Southeast Asia.

He also flew 40 combat missions with Vietnamese pilots in A-1 Skyraiders, an attack bomber. During one attack on the Mekong Delta, his plane was hit several times by enemy ground fire, but he was credited with killing 25 Viet Cong.

During World War II, he flew 250 combat hours in North Africa and Sicily.

The colonel said that his flying career had gone the full cycle since World War II. He started in propeller driven aircraft, progressed to the latest jets and then gone back to the propeller driven aircraft in Vietnam.

Raebel and his wife, the former Mary Lenna Coleman, and their son, Stephen, 13, will live on the base.

Demo Urges Checks On Medi-Cal Fees

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A Democratic senator says that some of the spiralling costs of the state's medical assistance program could be avoided by limiting doctors fees and seeking more federal aid.

Sen. George Miller Jr. of Martinez, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said yesterday that stricter limits should be placed on physicians' fees.

Miller said current rules require doctors treating Medi-Cal patients to charge "standard and customary" rates. But, he said, "I strongly suspect that these costs are whatever they want them to be."

Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post told Miller's committee: "Hospital costs have skyrocketed and medical costs have gone up." Post predicted that Medi-Cal costs next fiscal year will cost Californians $70 million more than this year.

Collegians' Peace Corps Rate Praised

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An East Bay legislator has scorned recent criticism of California's college students, saying that they have the highest Peace Corps volunteer rate.

Sen. Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland, said yesterday that the Peace Corps volunteer rate at the University of California at Berkeley has been 34 for each 1,000 students. At Stanford, he said, the rate is 37 volunteers for each 1,000 students.

Petris said those two institutions and San Francisco State College provided the largest number of volunteers.

Disarm Talks Recess

GENEVA (AP) — The 17-nation disarmament conference agreed today to recess in about two weeks time, probably on Dec. 14.

Discrimination Not Allowed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Builders of homes and tract housing are not allowed to discriminate against minorities, the Federal Housing Administration insuring office declared today.

Denying rumors, Jack Tuggle, deputy regional director of the FHA, said FHA-financed builders are not required to advertise their tracts as open housing because "historically, when you advertise open housing you get nothing but minority applicants, and we don't want all FHA housing to give the impression it was built for minorities only."

Britain To Get Loan From Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an effort to restore world confidence in the stability of the pound, the International Monetary Fund has approved a $1.4 billion loan to Britain.

Set up so that Britain may draw from it over the next year, the loan is part of a $3 billion cushion the British seek to strengthen the pound and the domestic economy of the United Kingdom.

The fund's action had been expected since Britain devalued the pound Nov. 18 from $2.80 to $2.40.

$1 Billion Oroville Dam Electrical Contract Signed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has signed a contract by which the state could earn nearly $1 billion during the next 50 years selling its electricity.

The contract, signed yesterday with three major utilities, provides for the state to sell electrical power produced at the Oroville- Thermalito generating complex at Oroville Dam.

The three utilities jointly purchasing an estimated 2.1 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity annually are Pacific Gas and Electric Co., Southern California Edison Co. and the San Diego Gas and Electric Co.

The utilities will pay the state a minimum of $807.5 million over the next 50 years. State officials said the utilities will pay more than the minimum figure when power use increases.

Reagan said he was "pleased with the financial arrangement," which was negotiated over a one-year period.

State sale of electricity generated from the Oroville Dam portion of the State Water Project was hailed by Reagan as "an excellent example of effective cooperation between the state and free enterprise."

High Tides Threaten Homes On Seaside

NEWPORT BEACH (AP) — Volunteers and county work crews worked into the early hours today building a wall of bounders and sandbags to save expensive seaside homes from the highest tids of the season.

No Report On Opera Talks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — State conciliator Joseph Anderson declined today to give any progress report on efforts to settle a dispute that has delayed opening of the 1968 San Francisco Symphony season.

All of this week's concerts have been canceled, but tickets for next week were on sale as negotiators continued their talks.

Musicians Union Local 6 is demanding a pay boost to $225 a week.

The symphony association has offered to raise the present $190 weekly to $200 if the musicians will agree to a 21-hour week spread over six days instead of five.

Bill May Open Way For Reassessment

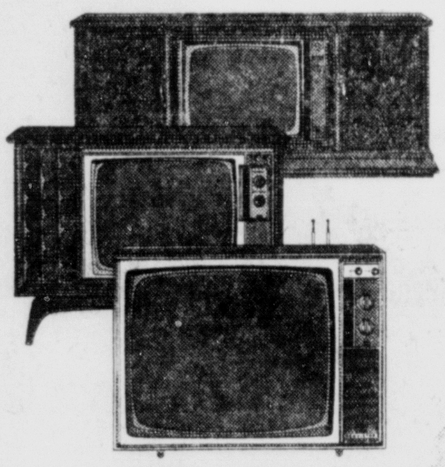

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Legislation to permit reassessment of property damaged by recent Southern California brush fires was signed into law yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

County supervisors must approve the legislation before the assessors can review assessments.

Kosygin Sees New Hanoi Raid Dangers

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet Premier Alexei I. Kosygin said today American refusal to end the bombing of North Vietnam risks the danger the war will spread.

"The temperature in the world is high and dangerous," Kosygin said during a one-hour conversation in the Kremlin with visiting Swedish Foreign Minister Thorsten Nilsson.

If the United States does not end the bombing, the Soviet premier said, then the war will be prolonged and may spread.

As long as the war goes on, he said, the chances for international relaxation are harmed.

But he admitted he saw no sign of an imminent change in American policy and indicated the Soviet Union still is unwilling to take any initiative toward peace talks.

Hanoi must decide its own destiny, Kosygin said. But he echoed the North Vietnamese line that bombing must stop before negotiations can be arranged.

Kosygin's comments were reported in paraphrase by Nilsson after the talks. The premier's statement about the "temperature of the world" came as the two men met and was overheard by newsmen who were barred from the rest of the conversation.

Nilsson reported that Kosygin dealt in a low-key, matter-of-fact way with the Mideast crisis.

Kosygin told Nilsson that a settlement must give security to all Mideastern nations, presumably including Israel. And he reportedly eschewed the usual Soviet criticism of Israel, never once mentioning the nations alleged "aggression."

LBJ Told Economy Cuts Don't Justify Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee told the Johnson administration in effect today that the economies it proposes are not enough to justify a tax increase.

Mills gave his views in a question-and-answer dialogue with top administration fiscal officers who were uniting in backing President Johnson's request for a 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes, coupled with spending cuts estimated at $4.1 billion, including $1.5 billion already made by Congress.

Mills, an Arkansas Democrat whose committee controls tax legislation, sprang on Secretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler a question as to what would happen if Congress passed a bill including the tax increase but providing that it take effect only when spending is cut to the 1967 level.

This referred to the level of spending in the year ended las June 30. The administration's proposed cuts apply to the following fiscal year.

"Don't you think this means the tax increase would never go into effect?" Mills persisted.

"I think that's right," Fowler replied.

At another point, Mills suggested to Fowler, "if you cut back enough, the American public might even support a tax increase that would balance the budget."

The committee has already received testimony that the deficit for this year, if nothing is done about taxes, will be about $22.5 billion.

The current committeee hearing opend yesterday, with no member saying anything that challenged Mills' earlier statement that passage of a tax measure before Congress adjourns for 1967 would be impossible.

PSYCHEDELIC CHAPLAIN?

He Says He's A Boo Hoo, Army Says He's A Private

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —The Boo Hoo says he's a minister. The Army says he's a buck private. And the American Civil Liberties Union says it is going to help Benjamin L. Osterberg try to become Uncle Sam's first psychedelic chaplain.

The 22-year-old Osterberg, drafted in October, is Boo Hoo —leader—of the Pensacola lodge of the Neo-American Church, an organization which considers mind-expanding drugs sacramentals.

ON A BLUFF

Osterberg, bearded before he marched off to camp at Fort Benning, Ga., a month ago, conducted his services on a bluff overlooking Pensacola Bay and at his home, "The All Night Harmonica Shop."

His congregation usually showed up in Mexican blankets, bare feet and blue jeans to eat green spaghetti and play with balloons.

A slender, intense youth, Osterberg contends he is a minister and meets the Army's qualifications for chaplains. The Army says he doesn't and says it doesn't recognize the Neo-American Church, a spokesman for the ACLU said.

The church claims there are over 600 members across the country in congregations they call lodges.

THROWN OUT

Osterberg, who has been thrown out of two junior colleges, says he is the "primate of northwestern Florida" for the hippie religion.

He has been leading the Pensacola hippies for more than a year and publishes a weekly newspaper, called "Mouth Organ," which asks members to contribute to the "morning glory seed bank."

Observers in Pensacola estimated that there were some 50 persons in Osterberg's lodge. He says his immediate superior is Chief Boo Hoo Arthur Kleps of Cranberry Lake, N.Y.

The ACLU met here last night and voted to seek help for Osterberg from its Atlanta and national offices. A local spokesman said the case probably would be handled by the Atlanta ACLU office.

The first American heavy bomber raid over Western Europe by B17s of the 97th Bombardment Group occurred in August, 1942.

Senate Passes Pay Increases For Military

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Yuletide package of pay raises was well on its way to 5 million servicemen and civilians on the federal payroll today, but for the public it looked like the last year of the 4-cent Christmas card.

The Senate approved legislation for the pay raises and an over-all increase in postal rates yesterday and sent the bills to a House-Senate conference committee for reconciliation with similar bills passed by the House.

SENATE VERSION

The Senate versions basically would provide a 4.5 per cent pay raise for 2 million civilian workers, and a 5.6 per cent raise for 3 million servicemen, both retroactive to Oct. 1.

Postal rates on Jan. 7 would go up from 5 to 6 cents for first class letters; 4 to 5 cents for postcards; 8 to 10 cents for airmail letters, and 6 to 8 cents for airmail cards.

Second class rates would go up 24 per cent in three annual steps. Third class would go up 40 per cent in two annual steps.

NO HIKES

The Senate's bills differ but slightly from the House versions and have the administration's backing, leaving little likelihood hitches could develop that would prevent enactment this session.

The Senate did, however, add provisions for greatly expanded insurance coverage for federal employes. The House did not include this item in its bills, but is expected to go along.

Under the Senate version, government white collar workers would get an immediate 4½ per cent across-the-board increase for the current fiscal year, and postal workers will get 6 per cent. Their salaries would increase further in 1968 and 1969 in accordance with wage gains made by workers in private industry.

The cost of this package was estimated at $2.6 billion over three years.

MILITARY PACKAGE

The military package would provide a 5.6 per cent raise for servicemen now, 4½ per cent in base salaries and the rest in fringe benefits. Further increases would come in automatic steps over the next three years. Its cost for the three years was put at $2.7 billion.

Under the postal rate increases voted by the Senate, postal revenue would rise an estimated $917 million the first year.

Massachusetts required every town of 100 or more householders to provide grammar school facilities in 1647.

Open Burning Ban Will Be Lifted Beginning Tomorrow

The ban on open burning in the unincorporated areas of the county will be lifted tomorrow because of the rain this week, Marin County Fire Chief Louis Bloom said, and most other fire departments in the county are following suit.

Hours for burning in the unincorporated areas are 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., and times in the cities may be ascertained by calling the fire departments there. Some departments require written permits for burning and others allow citizens to make arrangements by telephone.

Chief Bloom praised citizen cooperation during the past fire season, which he said was potentially dangerous. He added that only a total of 63 acres was burned during the fire season in grass and brush fires in unincorporated areas as compared with 941 acres last year.

READY FOR FISHING — William R. Steward of 200 Gloria Drive, San Rafael, is soon goinng to be able to participate again in his favorite sport. He is recuperating from open heart surgery. (Independent-Journal photo)

MEDICAL FIRST

Heart Patched Up In New Operation

By MARY LEYDECKER

In a few months a San Rafael man who has been restricted with a bad heart for years will be able to run and play with his children and go fishing again — due to two very new developments in medical science.

William R. Steward of 20 Gloria Drive now has a brand new mitral valve in his heart held in place with a teflon ring the size of a quarter — the first time such material has been used in this operation, he said.

LIVE VALVE

Transplanting of human heart valves is very new, Stewart said, and the first live mitral valve was transplanted in an operation performed on a Tracy man in March.

Stewart, who has suffered with a damaged heart valve for 10 years, was told by doctors years ago that he would have to wait until surgery was perfected to correct his conditon.

He has been a patient of the Palo Alto-Stanford Hospital for 10 years where he has been under the care of a heart team led by Dr. Norman Shumway, who performed the surgery.

"This fall the doctors said my heart was in such bad shape that I needed the surgery," Stewart said, "and since they had developed the technique they wanted to do it now while I was in good health."

Stewart's general good health led him to a quick recovery after three and one-half hours of surgery. He was only in the hospital 10 days.

Stewart expects to be back on his job with a San Rafael accounting firm about Jan. 1, and "in six months I should be able to go fishing in altitudes over 10,000 feet which I haven't done for 10 years," he said.

MEDICAL FIRST

He explained his operation further saying that doctors told him that they had been using dacron for the little ring which is attached to the donated heart valve and then sewn to the patient's heart.

"One of my doctors told me I was a medical first, as they had decided to try teflon for possible better results than the dacron," Stewart added.

Stewart's heart condition is the result of a bout of rheumatic fever when he was 12 years old but didn't show up until he was 37.

"The doctors say I will be as healthy as anyone who has never had heart trouble when I get my strength back," Stewart said.

He expects to be able to romp with his son Rusty, 10, and daughter Debbie, 11, in a few months as well as coach a Little League team again, an activity he had to give up last year.

HEALING PROCESS

The healing process will take a few months, Stewart said doctors told him, because tissue must form over the teflon ring before he will be completely normal again.

"At 47 I was the baby in the heart unit of the hospital," he said, adding that such operations are usually performed on much older people.

"I already feel better," Stewart said.

"For the first time in the 19 years we've been married, he breathes normally," Dell, his wife, added.

Adm. Hoefer To Tell Viet Experiences

John H. Hoefer of Belvedere will talk about his recent experiences in Vietnam at a meeting Dec. 7 at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Belvedere.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. in the parish hall of the church, 3 Bayview Avenue.

Hoefer, a rear admiral in the United States Naval Reserve, recently returned from a year in Vietnam. He will speak about the critical situation there and its effect on world affairs.

First commissioned while a student at the University of California in Berkeley, Hoefer was at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. He served in the Aleutian Islands and in the South Pacific during World War II.

An advertising executive, he lives in Belvedere with his wife, Kay and their three children John, Mary and William.

Joint Sewage Report Ordered By Boards

Engineers for the Bolinas Community Public Utility District and Stinson Beach County Water District were directed last night to draw up a joint preliminary report on the feasibility of a joint sewage disposal plan for the two districts.

Four members of the Stinson Beach board sat in on last night's meeting of the Bolinas board.

The tentative report will be presented by Bruce Collins of Kennedy Engineers for Bolinas and Dan Norris of Brown and Caldwell for Stinson Beach at the Dec. 9 meeting of the Stinson Beach board, which will be a joint meeting with the Bolinas Board. The meeting will start at 10:30 a.m. at the Stinson Beach Community Center.

Brown and Caldwell earlier proposed a $3.7 million joint treatment plant as part of an over-all Marin County sewage study. Later Bolinas started planning a plant to cost an estimated $236,000 and serve Bolinas only.

The Bolinas board also seated two new directors, Manuel S. Peters and Fred Davis, expanding the board to five members. Appointments must be confirmed by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Peters served on the Bolinas Public Utility District, which merged last summer with the Bolinas Beach district to form the present district.

Bread Poisoning Tragedy Could Happen In U.S.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A U.S. pesticide expert says it is a miracle that mass poisoning by an insecticide, similar to the poisoning of scores of persons in Colombia last week, has not occurred in this country.

"It could happen," says Dr. Samuel W. Simmons, chief of the U.S. Public Health Service's pesticides program at the Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta.

At least 76 men, women, and children in Chiquinquira, Colombia died last weekend after eating bread poisoned with a deadly insecticide whose effects are similar to nerve gas.

Another 86 Colombians are reported in critical condition despite antidotes rushed to Colombia from the United States.

Second Tam District Bond Vote Asked By Committee

A 10-member committee last night agreed to recommend that the Tamalpais High School District try again on a multi-million dollar bond issue defeated in the Oct. 10 election.

The committee, appointed by the district board to plan another bond election, will make the recommendation at the board meeting on Monday. It will suggest that the issue go on the June 4 primary election ballot.

The $12.3 million bond issue was to build new high schools at Tiburon and San Geronimo, and to build additions to existing high schools. A committee spokesman said, however, that the committee has not determined whether it will recommend that the same issue go on the ballot, or a somewhat revised one.

A two-man subcommittee composed of Richard Jessup of Mill Valley and David D. Ring of Tiburon was named last night to look into the possibility of trimming any proposed bond issue without hurting the educational program.

A second subcommittee, Mrs. Sally Rakow of Ross and Frank Miller of Greenbrae, also was appointed to head an information campaign in the belief that the bond issue failed at least partially because voters weren't convinced that the district had a classroom crisis.

The board is scheduled Monday to discuss steps for the immediate classroom needs for next fall, a decision narrowed down the whether to add portable classrooms or go on double sessions. The committee, however, said it will ask the board at that time to defer any decision, because to install portable classrooms would require money from reserve funds and the amount of money in the reserves might affect the proposed bond issue.

The committee would then meet again Dec. 11 to determine further recommendations for the board's scheduled Dec. 18 meeting.

Mrs. James Compton of Greenbrae is chairman of the committee, which met in the faculty lounge of Redwood High School.

Ike Visits Boyhood Hometown In Kansas

ABILENE, Kan. (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower visited his boyhood hometown today in an obvious rendezvous with memory.

Accompanied by his wife and two old friends, Eisenhower went first to the meditation chapel at the Eisenhower Center, where a son who died in Early childhood is buried.

Chapel bells sounded softly as Gen. and Mrs. Eisenhower, who was weeping silently, entered the small building. Mrs. Eisenhower still was weeping when the party emerged a few minutes later.

Eisenhower returned alone at the time the child's body was moved from its original burial place in Denver and re-interred here.

Bundled warmly against a raw chill, and beneath overcast skies, the Eisenhowers toured the museum which houses presidential papers, gifts, and other mementoes of the White House and World War II years.

They were accompanied by former U.S. Sen. Harry Darby, Kansas City, Kan., industrialist, and Mrs. Darby, long-time friends of the Eisenhowers.

The two couples earlier had visited the better part of an hour in the Eisenhower's private railroad car, which had been pulled onto a siding near the Union Pacific station.

Darby said they talked about common farm problems, including the feeding of cattle, and exchanged ideas on how to get cattle ready for market.

There was talk about GOP presidential prospects, Darby said, but it was "only in a general manner."

The old friends also talked about family matters.

"I'm always interested in his family and he is always interested in mine," Darby said.

Marin Grand Jury Indicts Three Convict Escapers

Three convicts who sawed their way to freedom from San Quentin, only to be captured in Greenbrae Oct. 20 after 14 hours at large, were indicted on felony charges of escape by the Marin County Grand Jury last night.

The jury returned indictments against Scott A. Perfect, a 16-year-old Los Angeles County burglar serving a five-year to life term; Ronald L. Kane, 29, a Fresno car thief; and Siegfried Dino Porte, 24, serving a five-year-to-life term for a Los Angeles robbery.

Porte was convicted in Marin Superior Court the day before his escape of knife possession.

Asst. Dist. aAtty. Leonard Shaw noted today that Porte put up no defense against that charge and seemed in a hurry for the trial to end.

"This was because he was sawing out of the prison at the time and couldn't afford to go off schedule," Shaw said.

The grand jury returned a separate indictment against Kane, charging that he had a knife hidden in the binding of a prison library book during a cell search at the prison Oct. 15.

Also indicted were two San Quentin convicts accused of possession of heroin.

Ralph Rodriguez, 26, had a quantity of the narcotic hidden in his cell during a search at the prison Aug. 3, according to an indictment.

Frank Munoz Becerra, 40, was carrying marijuana on his person when he returned from the prison visiting room Sept. 24, according to the indictment.

The grand jury also returned a sealed indictment. The information will not be disclosed until the accused person is arrested, said Shaw.

'MILL IN' AT BERKELEY

Student leaders at the University of California at Berkeley were expected to stage another demonstration today to protest suspension of two students who had been arrested in anti-draft rallies. This is part of the estimated 2,000 to 3,000 students protesting in Sproul Plaza yesterday. Some 1,500 students later staged a "mill in" in the corridors of Sproul Hall. They swept out the building before leaving. (AP Wirephoto)

City Sues Meter Man For Missing Change

The woes of Charles R. Herren, the San Rafael city employee who sought to provide for his retirement by embezzling parking meter money, increased many-fold today.

His former employer, the city, sued him for more than $81,226, seeking return of the missing change, interest and exemplary and punitive damages.

SUIT FILED

The suit, filed in Marin Superior Court, claims the former meter-minder siphoned off $27,500 in coins in the 10 years he worked for the city — January 1955 to December 1965.

Herren, 63, of 3 Bayview Street, San Rafael, was sentenced to four months in county jail and placed on probation for five years in June 1966 for the embezzlement.

According to evidence presented at the trial, Herren took about $7 a day over a long period from the city's meters. He cached the coins in bags and cigar boxes in his home.

FOR RETIREMENT

City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen said the coin collector told him he had been taking the money to save up for his retirement.

When imposing the sentence, visiting Superior Judge Richard Chamberlain of Alameda County ordered Herren to make restitution of $3,500. Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw had asked that the restitution be $7,500, the figure he claimed was stolen.

In its suit, the city claimed $27,500 was stolen and that Herren has paid back only $1,274.

SEARCH DENIED

At the trial, Judge Chamberlain denied a motion that safe deposit boxes belonging to Herren be searched for alleged missing loot.

Today's suit names Herren and five John Does, but City Atty. David Menary said the listing of the Does is simply precautionary.

The suit asks for $26,226, plus 7 per cent a year interest from Dec. 2, 1965, and the $55,000 exemplary and punitive damages.

TOO LOW

Herren's arrest in 1965 came after a public accountant noticed that the parking meter collections were too low.

Andersen hired a private detective and the police chief was informed.

Marked coins were put in some of the meters and not all of them came back. The pattern of the missing coins led to the arrest of Herren.

Woman Injured As Cars Collide

A Novato woman was injured yesterday when her car, heading west across Highway 101, collided with a northbound car three miles north of Novato.

California highway patrolmen reported the two-car crash occurred at 11 p.m. between cars driven by Hazel Blanco, 43, of Novato and Charles Edgar Hammone, 27, of Santa Rosa.

Mrs. Blanco was treated at Novato General Hospital for cuts on both legs and a bruised face.

FOXHOLE ATTACK

Marine Battles New Vietnam Enemy—A Tiger

SAIGON (UPI) — A tiger yanked a U.S. Marine from his foxhole and dragged him 300 yards before the Leatherneck fought the beast off with his bare hands, military spokesmen said today.

The Marine escaped with "minor wounds" and was undergoing a series of precautionary shots for rabies, the spokesman said.

The attack occurred yesterday night one-half mile southeast of the "Rockpile," a Leatherneck outpost just south of the North-South Vietnam border.

The "rockpile," a small mountain of boulders, is literally smeared with the dried blood of men who have died there in some of the war's bloodiest fighting.

The spokesman said the Marine was grabbed by one arm. But he flailed at the tiger until the animal dropped him in a stream and fled.

The Marine's name was withheld pending notification of relatives.

Vietnamese tiger hunters have reported that during 20 years of war many of Vietnam's large tiger population have become maneaters.

They grew accustomed to eating the flesh of battle casualties, the hunters said, and are attracted by the sound of gunfire which they associate with dead bodies.

Hunting tigers for sport, once common in Vietnam, has all but disappeared because of the war. The tiger population has increased as a result, according to the hunters.

Every hour, some 6,000 kittens are estimated to be born in the United States.

Duck Botulism Poisoning Puzzles Wildlife Officials

CORCORAN (UPI) — State and federal wildlife officials are puzzled over a mysterious increase in the rate of migratory duck deaths from botulism poisoning south of here.

Normally, cold weather kills botulism bacteria in stagnant ponds, instead there has been a five-fold increase in the daily death rate, according to Leon Littlefield, director of the Kern-Pixley National Wildlife Refuge.

He said volunteers have been picking up an estimated 500 dead birds a day in the infected area this week, compared with 100 daily last week.

In addition, he said, there has been an alarming rise in concentration of the botulism toxin even though fresh water has been pumped into the area to dilute infected water. Littlefield said ducks now are dying within two hours after they drink the polluted water, rather than two days later as before. He said duck deaths so far total 45,500.

Recruit Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) —National Guard units throughout the country have been ordered to stop taking new recruits without previous military experience until further notice, it was disclosed today.

Wirtz Denies He Will Resign

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz says reports he plans to resign from President Johnson's cabinet are "poison poppycock."

"I would rather be doing what I'm doing now than anything else I can think of," Wirtz' office quoted him as saying in a telephone call from Miami yesterday.

One report, through Washington television station WTTG, had said that Wirtz "feels that he has served long enough in the post and is just plain tired."

A press spokesman for the Labor Department said there was "absolutely no foundation" to the report. "It's totally untrue," he said.

Servicemen Are Urged To Desert

MOSCOW (UPI)—Four young American sailors who deserted to Russia urged other U.S. servicemen today to do the same.

The four were featured in an interview in the weekly Moscow News, an English-language publication here.

The sailors are Richard Bailey, 19, of Jacksonville, Fla.; John Barilla, 20, of Catonsville, Md.; Michael Lindner, 19, of Mount Pocono, Pa.; and Craig Anderson, 20, of San Jose.

DESERT CARRIER

They deserted from their aircraft carrier in Japan on Oct. 23 and reappeared here Nov. 20 on a Moscow television program. Since then they have made several anti-war appearances, but have been blocked by their Soviet hosts from meetings with American diplomats or newsmen.

Anderson told Moscow News: "Our action was dictated by conscience."

Bailey added: "As far as the military are concerned, I hope our actions may influence other military to do the same thing."

Lindner said the four want "to continue making known our attitude toward the war...and to write against the war until it comes to an end."

NO REPETITION

None of the four sailors repeated their earlier statement that they hope to go to another nation to spread their anti-war campaign. American officials had said such a trip would be almost impossible, since they are not believed to be carrying U.S. passports.

The sailors said they oppose war but approve the North Vietnamese war effort.

"I can only express my admiration for what the young people of Vietnam are doing," Bailey said. "Of course, I am against anybody being killed, but I am of the opinion that the Vietnamese young people can and must fight on."

Barilla said he hoped to see the North Vietnamese gain American-style freedoms.

Federal Aide To Talk On Police Relations

A special assistant to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey will address the Northern California Police Community Relations Association at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the Marin Civic Center.

Bruce J. Terras, who is also a consultant to the U.S. Justice Department, will speak on "Police-Community Relations — Today's Challenges."

Reagan Holds Courts Not Above Criticism; Cites California's

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Gov. Ronald Reagan told the nation's legislative leaders today that courts are not above criticism, and pointed to the California Supreme Court as an example of judges who invade the law-making process.

"It is the duty of the courts to interpret law, not to establish policy or preach a special brand of sociology. Nor is it the privilege of the court to set itself above reproach or criticism," Reagan declared.

JUST 'NONSENSE'

His remarks came in a speech prepared for the National Conference of State Legislative Leaders.

Reagan labled as "nonsense" those who say the courts are above criticism and that questioning courts amounts to questioning the American democratic system.

NOT EXTREMISTS

"Those who criticize the courts are often branded as extremists or facists or worse. This also is nonsense, just as nonsensical as calling the court's defenders Communists," Reagan said.

The governor said the courts are responsible to the people, just as the executive and legislative branches, but "there are those on the bench who forget this."

He added, "Here in California . . . the judiciary has strayed in several cases into the areas ordinarily reserved for the executive or the legislative."

COURT RULINGS

He pointed to a number of Supreme Court rulings on such things as convict labor, capital punishment and the one against his planned cutbacks in the Medi-Cal program.

The governor again contended the ruling means "we must pay for the cost of treating a cold for a person on welfare before we can treat a cancer afflicting" a non-welfare case covered by Medi-Cal.

In view of such rulings, he went on "Is it any wonder that some congressmen and some legislators are seeking ways of preventing the courts from substituting their personal views for those of the legislative?"

LEARNING ROPES

Reagan also admitted frankly to the lawmakers from other states that "In the early days of my administration we had our problems, not only with the members of the other party, but also with the members of our own."

He said he now feels this was to be expected — "We were the new boys in town . . . we learned by doing. But the process was not always easy and the way was not always smooth."

Then he quipped: "Some people described the early days of my administration as a honeymoon. My reply was that if it was a honeymoon, I was sleeping alone. And then, looking around at some of those who allegedly were on the honeymoon with me, I decided that sleeping alone was not such a bad idea."

LOBBYISTS PRAISE

The governor also had a word of praise for lobbyists, who no longer, he said, are "shadowy figures offering favors in an atmosphere of bacchanalian revelry . . . The average lobbyist . . . has a tough job and does it well. We look on many as friends and some as advisers."

Reagan said "my administration makes no bones about being business-oriented . . . A government operated on business-like principles is a more efficient, more economical government."

Jesse Berry Honored For His Club Work

Jesse E. Berry of Marin City, a founder of the Boys' Club of Southern Marin, was honored for outstanding service at last night's dinner meeting of the club.

The central room of the clubhouse will be named after Berry, and Berry was presented the bronze plaque bearing his name which will be placed over the door.

Berry helped obtain the club building and remodel it when the club was founded 15 months ago. He is a club vice president, a member of the board of directors, and is chairman of the Marin City Community Services District.

Guest speaker Thomas T. Storer, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, said there is a "fantastic lack of recreational facilities" for Marin City Children. He praised the club for meeting the need in Southern Marin. Through the club, he said, "the kids can learn respect for the dignity of men."

Special awards for support of the club were presented to Richard S. Calender of Belvedere and George C. Goheen of Mill Valley, board members, and Rev. Llewellyn A. White of St. Stephen's Episcopal parish, Belvedere.

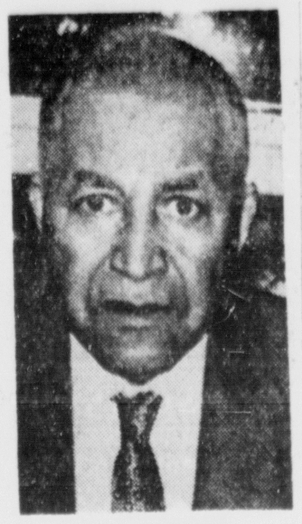

The club re-elected 23 directors including Berry, Calender, Goheen, president Richard N. Bale, Mrs. Orpha E. Barnes, Joseph H. Bell, John Benjamin, Guido Bisazza, Raymond P. Delrich, Arthur Dettner Jr., Fred Drexler Jr., Philip S. Ehrlich Jr., David E. Freedheim, Frank E. Hayward, Richard S. Isaacs, Ernest Nevers, Ben Randolph, George Scott, Mrs. Lincoln Simpson, Judge Richard M. Sims Jr., Richard H. Ward, Stanton G. Ware and Fred G. Zelinsky.

Two-Car Crash Injures Driver

A Pinole man suffered a broken nose and multiple bruises yesterday in a two-car crash on Highway 17, across from the Marin Rod and Gun Club.

An eastbound car driven by William Allan Clute, 29, of 77 Reed Ranch Road, Tiburon, spun across the highway and collided with a westbound car driven by William Henry Junier, 46, of Pinole at 9:45 a.m., according to the California Highway Patrol.

Junier was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Dog Bites Mail Carrier

A mail carrier from Tiburon was bitten by a Belvedere dog yesterday in the line of duty.

Mrs. Gene Gaut, 44, of Tiburon, was delivering mail 49 West Shore Road, Belvedere, at 11:45 a.m. when a beagle bit her on the left leg, according to Belvedere police.

Mrs. Gautt was treated by a Belvedere doctor for the injury.

A friend staying at the Belvedere home told police the dog's owner, Scott Conover, is away and she did not know if the dog had had rabies shots.

Boys, 17, Booked In Theft Charge

Two 17-year-old juveniles from Utah were booked into Marin County Juvenile hall last night, one for petty theft and the other for resisting arrest, Novato police reported.

Officer Ronald J. Green apprehended the two on suspicion of shoplifting from the Safeway store in the Novato Shopping Center. When he got them to the Novato police station, one ran away. He held onto the other, and booked him for petty theft.

Fairfax police just before midnight apprehended the escapeee and he was booked on suspicion of resisting arrest.

No Action On Plans For New Firehouse

No action on final plans for the new Kentfield firehouse was taken by the Kentfield Fire District Board last night in the absence of Commissioner W. J. Williams, who was ill.

Fire Chief Kenneth Kamp said attending commissioners reviewed the proposed final plans with architect Gilbert Murphy. Another meeting will be scheduled soon, however, to approve plans for the station, to be located next to the existing station at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and College Avenue.

All States Report Rise In Collection Of Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax collections of state governments increased 8.6 per cent during their 1967 fiscal years to $31.9 billion, the Commerce Department reported today.

Increases ranged from 41.6 per cent in New Jersey to .4 per cent in California, the department added. All states showed increases.

The total was $2.5 billion above the 1966 fiscal year, the department said, with the largest percentage increases coming in individual income taxes, up 14.1 per cent, and general sales and gross receipts taxes, up 13.4 per cent.

Sales and receipts taxes continued as the top source of state tax revenues with $8.9 billion. The individual income tax accounted for $4.91 billion followed by sales taxes on motor fuels at $4.84 billion.

The biggest collections were in New York at $4.06 billion followed by California at $3.48 billion.

Per capita tax collections ranged from $95.09 in Nebraska to $297.05 in Hawaii, the department said.

Honor Awards For Students

Nine Marin County students were among the 560 freshmen at the Berkeley campus of the University of California who have been awarded certificates honoring their outstanding scholarship in high school.

One-sixth of the freshman class at Berkeley has almost a straight A average in college preparatory subjects.

The Marin students are: Ellen Frances Davis and Stephen Raymond Bunker of Belvedere, Louis Henry Herkenhoff of Corte Madera, Stephen Lattanzio of Fairfax, Kathleen Jane Adams of Inverness, Janet Marie Pedersen and David Alan Walter of Kentfield, Marilynn Renee Cohn of Larkspur and Carolyn Louise Clark of Novato.

Sprinkler Floods Art At Gallery

A fire sprinkler, apparently activated by the heat of overhead spot-lights according to firemen, last night flooded Gallery III in Corte Madera and caused an estimated $1,000 damage to the building and art works.

Mrs. Hilda Korner, co-owner of the galley at 69 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Cooperative Center, said the store was closing about 9 p.m. when the sprinkler began its spray.

Patrons and passers-by joined in removing paintings from walls, sculptures and ceramics, and prints and mats from bins.

Mrs. Korner, who made the loss estimate, said it was not yet determined how many paintings were damaged or ruined.

Firemen said the sprinkler caused about four inches of water on the rug-covered floor before it could be stopped. The water did not spread to the adjacent office, however, Mrs Korner added.

The gallery opened March 15.

HELPING OTHERS

Salvage Shop Leader Busy

Mrs. Sam Schonwasser of Sausalito, new chairman of the Sausalito Salvage Shop, says the shop is her major interest, now absorbing practically all of her leisure time.

She joined the group of Sausalito women who operate the little shop dedicated to helping others three and a half years ago and was one of its co-chairmen last year.

A graduate of Galileo High School in San Francisco, Jane and her husband, a San Francisco insurance broker, have lived some 25 years in Marin, where she has been active in many organizations, including the Marin Junior Theatre, the Powder Puff Guild of Sunny Hills and Ross Valley Players. She is an organizer and a past president of the Marin General Hospital Volunteers.

MRS. SCHONWASSER

The Schonwassers have two married children, Gary Schonwasser of San Francisco and Mrs. Charles McDaneld of San Francisco.

Other board of directors members for the coming year are Mrs. Edwin S. Long, co-chairman; and Mesdames Clayton D. Mote, secretary; Francis Constable, treasurer; and Cyril Hansen, advisor and chief "foster mother" for the shop's eight foster children in various parts of the world.

Dressing Dolls Again This Year

Mrs. Deloris Moore of San Rafael is dressing old dolls again this year so that underprivileged children in the area will find something from Santa in their Christmas stockings. Last month, however, she branched out, and sent nearly 30 dolls to Vietnam to be distributed to children there.

Her stock of secondhand dolls in good condition is now nearly exhausted, as are the tiny buttons, snaps and trim she uses to finish off the clothes she makes. She is taking dolls at 2118 Fourth St., San Rafael.

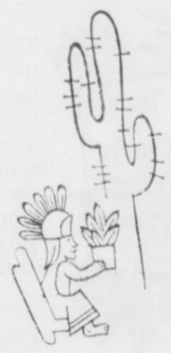

Young Mexican Girl Feted At Birthday Party In Hospital

Yesterday was a special occasion at Marin General Hospital.

Alicia Lopez of Mexico City, who was the victim of an auto accident in Marin County which resulted in the severing of her spinal cord and loss of the use of her legs for the balance of her life, celebrated her 23rd birthday.

For the occasion, Ramona, of Ramona's Restaurant in San Rafael, brought along lunch and arranged for her guitarist to play the traditional Mexican birthday song, "Las Mananitas."

One of the volunteers who teaches Spanish at College of Marin paid for her television rental and made it possible for her to call her mother in Mexico City. Marin General Hospital staffers gave her an AM-FM radio.

Alicia is one of 10 children and was employed in a bakery and had done modeling of furs in Mexico City before coming to visit her uncle who lives near San Diego. The accident occured near San Quentin as they were driving to Santa Rosa to visit friends on Sept. 24.

One of the priests and his students at Marin Catholic High School have been visiting Alicia and she is just learning a few words of English. She is able to converse in Spanish with quite a few people at Marin General because of the hospital's new foreign language registry.

Also a graduate of Tamalpais, Alan attended College of Marin and Dartmouth College and has a degree in marine biology from the University of California.

He is teaching at the Creative Music School in San Rafael and at his studio in Mill Valley.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Tune In To Business' Wavelength, Teens, If You Want Those Jobs

DEAR HELEN:

About a year ago, you ran a letter from an employer, telling a boy why he didn't get hired. Not long ago, there was another letter from a different employer, this mostly about spelling. I saved the last letter, but can't find the first one. Would you mind printing it again, as the two columns will be very helpful in our Job-Finders Club. Thank you.—JERRY

DEAR JERRY:

I'll be glad to, especially since many others have also asked for a repeat. The letter was written by a businessman in Humboldt County. It goes:

DEAR KID:

Today you asked me for a job. From the look of your shoulders as you walked out, I suspect you've been turned down before and maybe you believe by now that kids out of high school can't find work.

But I hired a teenager today. You saw him. He was the one with the polished shoes and a necktie. What was so special about him? Not experience; neither of you had any. Attitude, son, A-T-T-I-T-U-D-E, put him on the payroll. He wanted the job badly enough to shuck the leather jacket, get a haircut and look in the phone book to find out what this company makes. He took time to find out my name and he called me Mr. or "Sir," not "Hey you." I rather imagine he knew how to spell my name correctly, too. He did his best to impress me. That's were he edged you out.

You see, kid, people who hire people aren't "with" a lot of things. We know more about Bing than Ringo, and we have some Stone Age ideas who owes whom a living. Maybe that makes us prehistoric, but there's nothing wrong with the checks we sign, and if you want one you'd better turn to our wave length.

I want someone who will go out in the plant, keep his eyes open and work for me like he'd work for himself. I couldn't care less if you're behind in your car payments. I want you to be interested in my problems. If you have the vaguest idea of what I'm trying to say, let it show next time you ask for a job. You'll be head and shoulders over the rest!

For both our sakes, get eager, will you?—EMPLOYER

DEAR HELEN:

I guess you know that all girls of 13 have problems in their somewhat exciting lives. My problem is that my Dad is very reasonable mostly, but sometimes I just don't know.

Well, one day I asked if I could get my ears pierced, and he was very nice about it, but Mom heard him saying "Yes," and hit the ceiling, saying I was too young. I started crying (I am very sentimental). Since Dad hates to see me cry, he said, "Why don't you write and get Helen's opinion?" I was so happy I kissed him and went to work writing but sent it to the wrong place, so now I am re-writing, and I know you'll say the right thing!

—TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED:

Gosh, honey, you make it tough for anyone to say the wrong thing, but even while I hate myself, I'll have to side with your mother. Why not wait a year, and then perhaps she will agree with your Dad.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of The Independent-Journal.

San Rafael Man Marries Kay Tureman

MR. AND MRS. ELMER ROSENBLAD JR.
(Cee Jay photo)

Elmer Rosenblad Jr. of San Rafael was married to Kay Louise Tureman of Petaluma in a 2:30 p.m. ceremony at the Methodist Church in Petaluma Nov. 12. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Rosenblad of San Rafael.

The new Mrs. Rosenblad wore a traditional gown of Chantilly lace with full skirt and fitted beaded bodice. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Bill Egbert of Petaluma, wore a light blue chiffon Empire floor length gown. Elmer's brother Charles was best man, and the bride's brother Ricky was usher.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tureman of Petaluma, is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School. Her husband is an alumnus of Mission High School and has just ended a one-year tour of duty in Vietnam with the U.S. Army. He is the brother of Darlene, Karen, Steve and John Rosenblad of San Rafael, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rosenblad of Healdsburg and Mr. and Mrs. Gianotti of Forestville.

The reception was held in the bride's home, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to the Sierra and Lake Tahoe. They will be stationed in Georgia for Elmer's remaining two months in the Army, after which they expect to live in Petaluma.

Shopping in the Village

To absolutely assure the success of your holiday soiree serve hors d'oeuvres from L'ENTREE. Louis Reimers, Master Chef, turns out fabulous hot and cold delicacies from a menu that reads like a gastronomical world tour . . . Italian or Swedish meatballs, miniature tacos, pizza, Sarma (stuffed grape leaves, honey) Teriyaki kebabs and much more. This menu is yours for the asking at L'ENTREE.

Well, thank heavens, someone has finally done something about designing a pretty dressing table that will fit neatly into any size bathroom. THE GOLDEN CHERUB can be thanked for carrying these and Koch for making them. In brass with either white glass shelves or two drawers they are a perfect setting for exquisite cut crystal bottles by Irice, also found the THE GOLDEN CHERUB.

Talk about "sudden service"!...ROJEAN'S CARD & PARTY SHOP offers one or two day printing jobs on personalized cards. The cards, by the way, are a fine collection of Christmas greetings by Hallmark.

Amid the holiday hustle and bustle you'll appreciate "an island of quiet" like KUBLAI KHAN. This beautifully appointed restaurant is a perfect place for holiday entertaining. Continental and Oriental cuisine, service and decor would do any hostess proud and is certain to delight your guests.

Sparkling, twinkling miniature lights from Italy at ALBERTA OF MARIN. They have replaceable bulbs and, with a bit of care, will brighten many Christmases to come.

Coordinated lingerie from Warners at THE HOUR GLASS and timed perfectly for gifting. In a water color print of pink and green on nylon you'll find matching girdles; bras (32B to 36C) bikini panties, waltz length nightgown, ½ slip and, that comeback of the century, The Chemise (absolutely de rigueur for the mini skirt mob).

EDY'S OF MARIN is featuring those marvelous Mrs. Carver's fruitcakes again this year. These have got to be the very best cakes . . . with always much more fruit than cake. EDY'S will be glad to take care of shipping these light or dark cakes for you . . . also the famous EDY'S candies that have been one of the Bay Area's most welcome gifts since 1925. Guaranteed safe delivery but, do place your orders soon to avoid disappointment.

The "Jolly Red Giant" has arrived in The Village and is making his headquarters near Safeway market. Santa will be in The Village from Tues.-Sun. with candy for children accompanied by an adult and he'll pose for a photograph with visiting moppets. Holiday hours are now in effect in The Village with all shops open Monday-Friday until nine.

Excellent selection of gift packages at VILLAGE LIQUORS now, as well as domestic and imported wines to please any palate. If you're not too sure of yourself when it comes to choosing just the right wine for just the right person or occasion, you can always rely on Dan for knowledgeable advice.

We'd all better get used to the new name of THE CHERISH INN since it is bound to be heard all over the Bay Area when fine restaurants are mentioned. Soon, this attractive spot will be called INN MARIN and that's not all that is new here. Their new Continental menu devised by Chef Jim Davidson and presented by host Allan Johnstone, boasts not one frozen item . . . just cooked-to-order, excellent food.

A really old-fashioned Christmas could very well start at Marin's Old Country Store, HICKORY FARMS OF OHIO. Here you'll find many, many gift ideas for just about everyone on your list . . . gifts that you can be sure will be appreciated and enjoyed. HICKORY FARMS is a boon for those who like to remember business friends at Christmas and you'll find gift packs for everyone from the mail clerk to VIPs. But, don't dawdle, dear . . . place your orders soon with HICKORY FARMS and they'll take over from there, shipping your gifts at the right time with guaranteed safe delivery. One of the most popular gifts I've ever given was a gift pack that included HICKORY FARMS' famous (and exclusive) Beefstick. Friends introduced to this delectable thusly tell me they've become "hooked" on it and reorder all year long.

SUSAN'S FASHION seems to be headquarters for superb knit collections. There's a St. John boucle knit that I love . . . spearmint green, high neck, puff sleeves and it's washable! The famous Goldworm and Silverworm knits will star at a luncheon fashion show at Sabella's Restaurant on December 8th.

We're getting into the mud season again, and MUTTS OF MARIN has just the item to take a bit of the indignity out of frequent baths . . . their very own bath towels for mutts and mousers.

With the extended Christmas shopping hours in The Village, we are grateful for The HICK'RY PIT. This informal family restaurant is just the spot for dinner on a "shopping evening" or mid-afternoon snacks, lest we drop in our tracks. Barbecued meats at The HICK'RY PIT are out of this world, including their barbecued steaks cooked over a sizzling wood fire. Come as you are, bring the family, relax and enjoy.

KODEL
POLYESTER FIBER
Count on Kodel... member of the Eastman Kodak family

Every square yard of Palladio is crush, wear, dirt and stain resistant and beautiful and plush and about $10.95.

And worth it.

Palladio is about an inch deep. About an inch. Different tufts have different lengths. The difference makes the difference. It gives the carpet a lush and shaggy look. Which you'll like.

Also, Palladio stays lush and shaggy without too much tender-loving hard work. Which you'll also like.

This is because Palladio's pile is made of Kodel® polyester fiber. We won't call it a "wonder" fiber: we'll just tell you what it does wonderful.

It's crush-resistant. Stain-resistant.

Long-wearing. Mothproof. And nonallergenic.

And it's dirt-resistant (which means easy to clean).

And it just happens to look rather sumptuous.

Palladio will cost you about $10.95 per square shaggy yard. 14 lush colors available.

Also credit terms available.

Former Captain Is Named To Head Mill Valley Golf Women

Mrs. Thomas W. Brymer, who has been elected to succeed Mrs. Bruno Maraccini as president of the Mill Valley Women's Golf Club, is especially interested in making the club a good competitive group for members and in a program of encouraging high school girls interested in the sport.

A member six years, she has served as golf captain. She is also active in the Pacific Women's Golf Association, Cypress Hills Women's Golf Club, the Women Marines Association and Aldersgate Methodist Church.

The new president lives in San Francisco with her husband, an auto parts salesman. They have one daughter, Mrs. James Kramer, and a seven-month-old granddaughter.

Mrs. Brymer says her greatest enjoyments come from the "hello smile" of her granddaughter and anticipation of hitting a golf ball 225 yards.

She attended high school in Edison, Ga., and Munson Business College in San Francisco. She served in the U.S. Women's Marine Corps during World War II and worked for two business firms.

Other new officers of the club are Mesdames Charles H. Apple, vice president; E. M. Tobin, treasurer; James Betts, secretary; Don Roberts, golf captain; B. R. Wilkie, North Bay Women's Golf Association representative and Vollmar Thoney, Pacific Women's Golf Association representative.

The officers will be installed at the club's Christmas party Dec. 15.

ON THE ROAD — Attila Galamb plays 14 musical instruments and travels about in a camper, performing for school assemblies. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

"What animals they were, in men's bodies. I saw terrible things. But they were my masters. I had to smile at them," said Joseph Galamb, unconsciously smiling the same obsequious smile he smiled then. The keenly developed instinct for survival showed in his face.

His son, Attila, named for the first king of Hungary, was standing by impatiently. He is 14, but seems older and goes at an interview in a smooth, show business way. He plays 14 musical instruments and has been on the Ed Sullivan show. They travel about the U.S. in a pickup camper and Attila plays his 14 instruments for school assemblies.

The father is enthusiastic and believes that his son is on the threshold of a movie career. In their scrapbook, the San Angelo, Tex., Standard-Times says, "Musical Prodigy Will Appear Here," and the Fort Myers, Fla., News-Press says, "Musical Genius Pays Visit Here."

In an odd way, they still seem on the run from the European wars that ruined the father's life. They touched briefly here over the Thanksgiving holidays, playing schools in Marin County, and were the house guests of Mrs. William French of San Geronimo, whose daughter attends Lagunitas School.

"It is a bore," said Attila, "but in this country, talent is not enough." He was carried out of Hungary on his father's shoulders during the Hungarian Revolution. He plays the drums, three different kinds of saxophones, clarinet, flute, piccolo, accordion, piano, organ, vibraphone, marimba, ocarina, melodica, guitar, xylophone and torogato, a 300-year-old instrument. When he was six years old, he played an engagement at Radio City Music Hall in New York City.

"Yes, it is a great nervous strain," said the father, "trying to get to school assemblies in strange cities. If you are late, they will complain to the booking agency that you do not do the whole 45-minute program." In the mornings, when it's cool, warm air has to be pumped into the accordion, the reeds of the clarinets and saxophones have to be wet. They sometimes play five school assemblies a day.

The world, to Joseph, the father, has almost always seemed a place where you live by your wits. There were no jobs in Hungary after World War I, but he was a violinist and he formed a five-piece band that traveled about the country. For a time, between the wars, he was director of the second largest federal prison in Hungary. He is from Pecs, the second largest town in Hungary.

Then in World War II, he was taken prisoner by the Russians. He knew Russian and had picked up a little Japanese. For seven years he worked as an interpreter for the Soviet intelligence police, the NKVD.

"I saw terrible things. Things I do not want to remember. The people of this country, they know a few things, but it is only the surface," he said with a wave of his hand. Both he and the boy have intense, rather expressionless eyes. "You couldn't believe anything the Russians said. Everything that came out," he said, putting two fingers to his lips, "everything was lies. They were like animals, in men's bodies."

Again, after the Hungarian Revolution of 1956, he fled, carrying the 3-year-old Attila on his shoulders. Soldiers stopped them at the Austrian border and he shouted at them in Russian. "Otherwise," he said, making a machine gun with his two hands, "they would have shot us both."

He wandered about Europe for a time, trying to get into the United States. He earned his meals playing the accordion in German taverns. Attila could play the drums from the age of two, and by the time they arrived in the United States, the boy was able to play several more. He was a sort of a prodigy.

In Canada, where his divorced mother now lives, Attila played at a world's fair when he was only six. The clippings grew in their scrapbook as the father and son traveled about. One, on the funeral of jazz musician Jean Goldkette in Los Angeles notes, "Also among the mourners was Daverny Jones, former major league ballplayer, and Attila Galamb, 8-year-old saxophonist and protege of Goldkette."

At the urging of his father, in the living room of their hosts the French family, Attila played with brisk, aggressive efficiency, "The Flight of the Bumble Bee" on the saxophone.

Finished with his duty, the interview, Attila looked at his watch. "If you will excuse me, it is time for a riding lesson," he said.

The father nodded and the boy went out. After he had gone, the father said, "He is marvelous, you know. His fingering on the saxophone is marvelous. He also has a gift for comedy and he will do well in the movies if he gets a chance. I am certain that he will have a chance. I have always fought for everything in a very hard way."

For the present, he said, they face a couple more years on the road. Attila will be playing his 14 instruments for school assemblies in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Arkansas, Texas, all names that must sound strange to the Hungarian tongue.

MUSIC REVIEW

Professors' Recital Joins Piano, Cello

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Last night's recital by San Francisco Theological Seminary professors John R. Bodo, cellist, and Wilbut F. Russell, pianist, in Alexander Hall on the campus in San Anselmo was a very enjoyable evening of chamber music.

Since Russell is one of Marin's top professional musicians, his performance was, as usual, excellent and marked particularly by clarity of touch and great sensitivity in accommodating his tone to one that was fairly light, for the most part, on the cello.

PROFESSOR-CELLIST

Special interest centered on the playing of the Hungarian-born cellist because he is by vocation a professor of practical theology. He has studied his instrument since he was a child, holds a master's diploma as a cellist and has performed elsewhere as a soloist. This was his first appearance as a cellist here. It was also his last, for he is leaving to take another position as chaplain and professor in St. Paul, Minn.

It was evident throughout the program that the professor is innately musical and certainly is capable of following music as a profession with distinction if he chooses to do so. His style was generally rather cool and gentle, except for some colorful and robust playing in Prokofieff's Sonata, Opus 119.

The second half of the program consisting of this work and Beethoven's Sonata in G Minor, Opus 5, No. 2, was stronger than the first half because he played with greater confidence and assurance of attack and technique.

The first half of the program composed of "Pieces en Concert" by Couperin and the Sonata, Opus 6, by Richard Strauss, were at times insecure in intonation and technical facility in fast tempi. One felt that this was due to the stress of a first public appearance after long inactivity.

The Strauss work was notable for a lovely singing legato in the andante ma non troppo movement.

FIRST MOVEMENT

A good sized audience was rewarded for its enthusiasm with the first movement of Bartok's Rhapsody, originally for the violin but arranged for the cello by the composer, who had been a friend of the professor.

We are sorry that he is leaving Marin. He could help add luster to the musical scene here.

Peace Corps Test Set

Marin residents interested in joining the Peace Corps may take a placement test Monday at 3 p.m. at 910 D Street, Room 7.

Peace Corps officials said that applicants need not be college graduates as a broad range of skills are being sought to fill needs in overseas programs in agriculture, public health, community development and education.

Applications may be obtained at local post offices.

Brass Rubbings To Be Displayed

Monumental brass rubbings and bronze sculptures from private collections will be on display at the College of Marin Art Gallery in the new Fine Arts Complex beginning with a public preview Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The exhibit will continue until Dec. 15 with gallery hours from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The brass rubbings are from the collection of Kent B. Diehl, many of which were made by him in Europe. In addition to the bronzes which are owned by Harold K. Stager, who made his collection in the Republic of Dahomey, Africa, his African jewelry masks and wall hangings will be displayed.

DRAMA REVIEW

Stanford Shines In Anouilh Play

By KARL BARRON

PALO ALTO — Stanford Repertory Theater opened its new season last night at the Little Theater with a splendidly staged production of Jean Anouilh's "The Cavern." The company, half professional and half student, shines under the direction of Turkish actress-director Sirin Devrim, who also plays a major role.

"The Cavern," Anouilh's 28th full length play, is a perfect example of the French playwright's own definition of his work "not realistic, but a poetic and imaginative interpretation of reality." Through a combination of scenes directed at the audience which merge into the lives of his characters, he walks a tight rope between house and stage.

TELLS OF PLAY

The author (Gerald Hiken, looking amazingly like Anouilh) tells of the play he has been unable to write. Behind him in tableaux stands the whole company. He shoos them off, tries a scene, doesn't like it and tells them to start over. Gradually the characters begin to distort the author's intent, for while he desires not to shock or bore the audience, the very things he tells them not to portray become the fascinating elements of the drama.

The cavern is the basement of the Count's home, in which the servants of the household carry out their tasks, and in which Marie Jeanne, the cook (Miss Devrim) is murdered. As a bumblingly oily police superintendent (Paul Richards) attempts to solve the murder, meanwhile offering the Author unwelcome suggestions on playwriting, we learn of the lives both above and below stairs.

TIME SHIFTS

In addition to playing checkers with reality (The Author) and fantasy (the play) Anouilh toys with time, shifting at will from past to present and back.

His peasants are violent and garlic-scented, yet his aristocrats smell of decay and in their urbane way reveal themselves no better in principle than the grubby folk in the cavern. Typical of his upper classes is the Count (William Sharp), admittedly the father of Marie Jeanne's natural son.

Miss Devrim, whose direction is fast-paced and imaginative, is robustly solid and believable in her role.

As Adele, Mary Staton, a master of fine arts student, is finely involved and tops her performance with a scene of sheer hysteria that is tremendously moving.

A CHAPLIN

Richards, with bowler hat and cane, almost turns into a Chaplin at times, but manages to maintain a funny character without burlesquing it. Stephen D. Newman as the illigitimate son who is studying for the priesthood, presents an intense and emotional portrayal.

Warren Travis has designed a set combining realism and fantasy. Derek Hunt's lighting is excellent, as are costumes by Douglas A. Russell.

"The Cavern" will be repeated on Dec. 2, 6 through 9 and 13 through 16 at 8 p.m., with matinees at 2 p.m. on Dec. 2 and

The third wedding anniversary is traditionally known as the leather anniversary.

Children's Ballet Set In Novato

"Christopher Caterpillar," an original children's ballet, will be presented by the Novato Ballet Co. at 8 p.m., Dec. 8 and 9 at the Novato Community House.

The libretto was done by Carolyn Parks of the San Francisco School of Ballet and Bari Frohlich of the Junior Cotillion of Marin, to music by Rossini. Choreography was done by Carolyn Parks.

The part of the cotillion master will be danced by Ernest Widlund, who has been active in local little theater groups. Aunty Ant will be portrayed by Ernestine Barnwell of the Novato Community Players. Steven Cermak will dance the trepak dance from the Nutcracker Suite by Tschaikovsky.

Several members of the Novato Ballet Co. who will be seen in Christopher Caterpillar, have performed previously with the Marin Civic Ballet. They are Bonnie Bent, Julia Kovacich, Diane Edwards, Steven Lester, Renee De Velbiss, Wendy Putnam, Nancy Jones, Linda Paladini, Kim Watson, Janet Walker, Leslie Brickman, Cynthia Harvey, Daniel Paladini, Kathy Putnam and Karen Lester.

Hub Parents Seek Identity Of Dog

The parents of Chris Nilsen of San Anselmo, 7-year-old pupil at Isabel Cook School, issued an appeal for the identity of a dog which bit their son in the schoolyard yesterday.

Mrs. Gail Ann Nilsen said the dog resembled a black German shepherd, and was well-groomed. Identity is needed to determine whether the dog has been immunized from rabies.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1967 — 25

HOME RUNS AWAY FROM HOME

This partly constructed houseboat broke from its moorings in Sausalito during yesterday's heavy rains and drifted across the bay to go aground near Strawberry Point. The Coast Guard was called out but an outgoing tide beached the house before a cutter could take it in tow. Marin County Sheriff's Office and Sausalito police were trying today to trace the owners. TRANSIT AND DRUG POSITIONS FILLED

Marin Mayors And Councilmen Vote For Study Of Sales Tax Revenues

There was an election night atmosphere as the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen selected last night appointees to the Marin Transit District Board and the Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau Council.

After balloting between dinner courses at the Taberna restaurant in San Rafael, the results were:

Edward W. Colthurst, Corte Madera mayor, reappointed, and Dean N. Meyer, Mill Valley councilman, appointed to the transit board.

DRUG APPOINTEES

Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher of Corte Madera, and police chiefs Edward S. Kreins of Sausalito, and Robert J. DiGrazia of Novato, were appointed to the drug abuse bureau council.

There was a touch of campaigning in a three-way race for the two posts on the transit board, with each nominee briefly explaining his outlook on transit problems.

With each city voting for two, the court was Colthurst, 10, Meyer, 6, and Harley McAskill, Novato councilman, runner-up, 4.

WILL NOT RUN

Meyer will succeed William Jack Adams, a Novato councilman now serving as a city representive on the transit board. Adams has announced that he will not run for re-election to the city council next April.

The tighest race came in selecting a city manager to serve on the five-member council which will supervise the newly-created county-wide drug abuse bureau.

CLOSE VOTE

Usher was named by a 6-5 vote over City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen of San Rafael.

Five police chiefs were nominated for the two posts on the drug abuse bureau council, with Kreins and DiGrazia, reported as nominees of the police chiefs themselves.

The voting was Kreins, 9, DiGrazia, 9, San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa, 1, and San Anselmo Police Chief Raymond R. Buchignani and Fairfax Police Chief James Orr, none.

BUREAU MAKEUP

The five-member drug abuse bureau council will be composed of the two police chiefs, Usher, Sheriff Louis Mountanos and Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales.

After some debate the council voted 6-5 for a committee to study the possibility of redistribution of sales tax revenues throughout Marin on a population basis.

The proposed committee will consist of five members one each from San Rafael, Sausalito, Mill Valley, Novato and Marin County government.

San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini opposed redistribution of sales tax revenues. "In San Rafael one third of our income is from sales tax," he said. "It would be to the detriment of our people."

TAX REVENUE

Sausalito Mayor Mel Wax said Sausalito relies on its sales tax revenues. The city has additional expenses because of tourists "and the situations they create cause us to rely heavily on the sales tax."

Mill Valley Councilman Michael Wornum, a member of the city-county services committee, emphasized that the vote was only for a study.

A proposal that a committee be formed to study the possibility of a county-wide flood control district was defeated by a 9-2 vote. Mill Valley and Tiburon were the cities voting for such a study.

The next meeting will be in Sausalito Jan. 31.

NEEDS FOR MARIN

Bagley Ties Remapping To Greater Span Voice

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said last night he would vote for abolition of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District if there isn't reapportionment in the district.

Bagley's comment was greeted with applause at a meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen in San Rafael.

BRIDGE ISSUE

After Bagley spoke about reapportionment of congressional districts, Supervisor Thomas T. Storer asked if the "one-man, one-vote" principle should apply to the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District.

Bagley said there should be some re-adjustment, and noted that Marin has "more day to day problems," than the less-populated northern counties of the district.

(San Francisco has seven board members, Marin and Sonoma two each, and Napa, Mendocino and Del Norte Counties one apiece, a roughly proportional representation.)

ON REMAPPING

On the reapportionment of the First Congessional District, Bagley noted that the district now has 120,000 more voters than the average congressional district.

"There is no way you can take 120,000 out of the district without affecting Marin," he said.

The congressional reapportionment bill before the Assembly would place the southern portion of Marin, south of Big Rock Ridge, in the Sixth Congressional District in San Francisco.

MARIN'S PART

Bagley contended that Marin's population will be "a significant part of the new district," comprising 30 per cent of it.

Referring to those who claim they will fight to keep Marin intact, Bagley commented, "The only honest thing is to explain rather than to make points."

Commenting on one reapportionment possibility that would take Rep. Don H. Clausen's home territory of Crescent City out of the district, Bagley said, "You just don't pull the seat out from under an incumbent."

On the new administration in Sacramento, Bagley said, "It has established a refreshing atmosphere of economy."

In contrast, he said, "It took them three or four months to realize the state has problems."

There are problems of transportation and property taxation, the major problem is the core urban city, he said, "problems of human relations, civil rights, jobs, homes and redevelopment."

On criticism of courts, Bagley said he didn't like attacks on courts. "I object to a governor, any governor, trying to put the monkey on the court's back if he doesn't like a decision."

COURT CRITICISM

Those who make an issue of supporting police also should support the courts, not support only one aspect of law enforcement and not another, he said.

Storer reviewed the history of the Marin Transit District and called for an "in-depth" water transportation study.

Bagley returned to Sacramento after the meeting.

Oratorio Choir Concert Slated

Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary's oratorio choir will present the Christmas portion of Handel's "The Messiah" in Broadus Chapel on the campus tomorrow at 8 p.m. Dr. Carlyle D. Bennett, head of the church music department at the seminary, will conduct.

Soloists will be Jung-Yun-Whang, Ruth Jarboe, Jerald Reeves, Elwyn Gunn and Eugene Royal. All are students at the seminary except Mrs. Jarboe, a former student who now lives in Novato.

Mrs. Orene Suttern of the seminary faculty will accompany on the organ and Mrs. Jose Mandoriao will be the pianist.

Substitute Teachers' Pay Raised

Substitute teachers in the Sausalito School District last night were given a pay increase by the district board.

Substitutes will now be paid $22 a day starting salary, $25 after 10 consecutive days, $28 after 20 days and $31 after 30 days. The rate has been a flat $22 a day.

The Sausalito School District Board also:

SALARIES — Agreed to act at the Dec. 11 meeting on a proposed salary schedule for classified employees. A committee report said the schedule includes longevity pay, more holidays, and three weeks vacation from the first year of employment.

BUS — Told Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato to seek bids for a new 67-seat school bus to cost approximately $20,000. Amato said the money could come from school funds released if the district gets state approval to spend $70,000 alloted earlier for district structural needs. Amato will present a program for using the $70,000 to state officials next week.

MATH — Heard a report from Mrs. Marilyn Hughes on a new mathematics program financed by Senate Bill 28. Forty-nine eighth graders and nine seventh graders are in the program, and 26 of them have now had experience teaching mathematics to fifth and sixth graders.

ENROLLMENT — Learned that enrollment this year is 991 compared to 1,014 last year. The drop was attributed to fewer students from Mill Valley in the district.

ELECTION — Received a final report on the Oct. 11 bond election showing the final vote was 907 yes votes and 736 no.

Teacher-Parent Talks Urged On Complaints

Another hour's descussion between military families from forts Baker and Barry and the Sausalito School District Board brought no immediate results last night, but there were gestures toward conciliation and Board President David E. Freedheim laid out ground rules for school-parent meetings that might reduce disagreements. (Another Sausalito school story page 1.)

The Army parents issued a letter earlier this month complaining that their children had been harassed and bullied at school, school standards were low and discipline was lacking in the district.

PARENTS MEET

Freedheim said parents should meet with school teachers, administrators and the board, but laid down two requirements: that parents spend at least one hour at the school complained of, and that teachers must be present at the meetings with parents.

"I won't have professional teachers subjected" to accusations without a chance to take part, Freedheim said.

The Sausalito school system was praised and damned from the audience, and sometimes it was dificult to tell which. Mrs. Constance Watkins said she had a child at Manzanita School and was "thrilled to death" with the quality of education she was getting.

But before transferring to this area, she said, she heard reports from many Army friends that she couldn't possibly put her two older children in Sausalito schools.

TAKE CHANCE

"I didn't want to take the chance" of the children losing a year of schooling, she said, so they were enrolled in private schools.

"Did you investigate the school system?" Freedheim asked.

"No," Mrs. Watkins admitted, because she had heard the reports from so many sources.

Another parent, James Britton, said he was "very pleased" with the education his children at Bayside and Manzanita were getting, but "with so much smoke there must be some fire," he said. "I question if it's just a public relations problem."

On the other side was Mrs. Ralph Thomas, who said she visited her child's school last year and "I've never seen such chaos in my life." She said Supt. Phillip W. Schneider refused her request to transfer her daughter to another school, and this year she put the girl in a private school.

READS REBUTTAL

Maj. Ralph Thomas, representing several parents, read a rebuttal of several points made by Schneider in a report to the board on the parents' complaints.

Major Thomas quoted another parent, Willard J. Erickson Jr., who checked at Central School and found on four days school buses arrived before teachers arrived to supervise.

Thomas also criticized afternoon meetings of Richardson Bay teachers to review discipline problems, saying the time is not spent in teaching and the meetings indicate the teachers aren't talking to each other as they should.

FIGHT COMPLAINTS

Answering complaints of fights, "Schneider said he spent the last three days at Richardson Bay School and saw only one fight, which he said started when a white boy called a Negro pupil "nigger."

In such cases, Schneider, said, "We're dealing with what's been transmitted to the children" and Negro children won't stand for it.

"There is nothing we can say to a concerned parent," board member Bruce E. Woelfel said, "except to see what's going on" by visiting the school.

Trustee James E. Muldoon said the difficulty is that one side makes charges, and then the other tries to prove it's all wrong. "Perhaps we're wrong in trying to refute these criticisms absolutely," he said.

He called for meetings of the "dissident parents" and the board to talk out difficulties, at a meeting set aside for such discussion alone. "If we have to have one or two more meetings a month, so be it."

Strawbridge Not To Seek Re-Election

Gordon W. Strawbridge, who has served as mayor of two cities in Marin, won't seek re-election to the Tiburon City Council next April.

Strawbridge, who served as Tiburon's first mayor, 1964-66, will be leaving the council after serving a four-year term. He was a Mill Valley city councilman from 1948-54, serving as mayor the last two years.

Strawbridge received a standing ovation for his civic work after it was announced last night at a meeting of the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen that he was attending his last session of that group as a councilman.

The council won't meet next month and Strawbridge is scheduled to leave on a long cruise in January. He said, after last night's meeting, he felt he had served long enough.

Senate Honors Late Builder

The California Senate has adopted a resolution in memoriam for William A. Gilotti, San Rafael builder who died last February at the age of 53. The resolution was introduced by Sen. John F. McCarthy.

Ghilotti, with his brothers Mario, of Nicasio, and Dino, of San Rafael built a construction venture into a large heavy construction, paving and surfacing industry serving Marin and Sonoma counties and other Bay Area communities.

The resolution extended the Senate's condolences to the members of the family. They are the widow, Mrs. Christine Ghilotti; his daughter, Mrs. Sharon Bauer; sons, Robert and Christopher; brothers, Mario, Dino and Henry, and his mother, Mrs. Amelia Ghilotti.

Terra Linda's School Population Crowds Unification Off Agenda

Unification figured to be the main topic on the agenda, but representatives of the neighboring Dixie School District and San Rafael Board of Education never really got around to it last night.

The boards, meeting for the first time in almost two years, wrestled instead with the problems of potential overcrowding at Terra Linda High School and of placing Dixie grammar school graduates in Terra Linda because of curriculum differences.

IN DIXIE

Terra Linda high is run by San Rafael, although located in the middle of the Dixie district and attended by students from both areas.

The boards said they plan to meet again to discuss other inter-district matters, including unification, which was beaten by more than 400 votes at the polls in June 1966, after four years of talk. No new meeting date was set, however.

Last night's session was held in the San Rafael district offices.

NEAR MAXIMUM

San Rafael Supt. John F. Plank said Terra Linda High School enrollment now was less than 100 pupils shy of the 2,250 maximum, and wondered whether it would be feasible to transfer new freshmen from the Terra Linda area, including those in the San Rafael Elementary District, to San Rafael High School, which, he said, could hold 300 more students.

Although Dixie trustees generally felt such a shift should be decided by San Rafael, Dixie trustee Earl H. Koehler opined that winning parents' approval of a transfer would be a "long, hard road."

Busing also may be expensive, it was pointed out.

The boards expressed interest in a suggestion by Alfred Oppenheim of Terra Linda, in the audience, that the districts shuttle students between high school campuses to get maximum use out of expensive laboratories, to relieve overcrowding and cut costs.

"Pretty soon, we're going to be in the age of computers — all the high schools will have them," Oppenheim said. "It seems foolish to me to have to buy computers for each high school — you may have four or five then — when you can put them on one campus."

STUDENT'S WORK

The board asked their staffs to investigate assembling progress reports on Dixie students attending Terra Linda high and of holding an inter-district meeting of 7th and 8th grade teachers to clear up curriculum differences which may hinder a student's work.

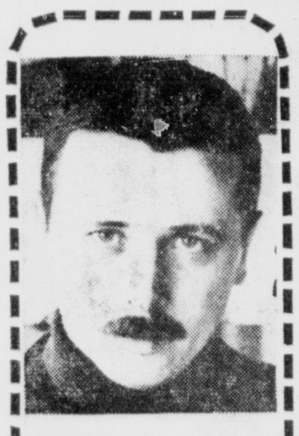

Dr. Plank said he felt that students of Santa Venetia Middle School, in the San Rafael Elementary District, received more intensive language instruction than those in Dixie's Vallecito and Miller Creek intermediate schools.

Dixie Supt. Dennie B. Willis said he cannot properly evaluate Dixie pupils' performances in Terra Linda high because his staff receives only the first-quarter report card. He recommended more reports be sent.

Dukes Nominated For Head Peace Officers Group

Nominations for 1968 officers of the Marin County Peace Officers Association were made last night at a monthly meeting at Nero's Restaurant in Novato, according to Novato Police Chief Robert Di Grazia.

Sgt. James Dukes of the California Highway Patrol was nominated for president. Undersheriff Sidney Stinson was nominated for executive vice president and Di Grazia for vice president. Lt. Raymond Bleasdale of the San Rafael police department was nominated for secretary-treasurer. Inspector Kenneth Irving of the Marin County Sheriff's Department was nominated for sergeant-at-arms.

These will be the only nominations and therefore will be automatically be elected to office at the December meeting, Di Grazia said.

Plea Of Innocent In Marijuana Case

John F. Chafin, 23, of 65 Lovell Avenue, Mill Valley, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge of felony marijuana possession. Preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 11 at 9:30 a.m.

The complaint against Chafin resulted from an incident at 55 Sunshine Avenue, Sausalito, Nov. 18, when someone at a party reportedly offered a marijuana cigarette to an undercover city policeman.

City In Yugoslavia Ruined By Quakes

BELGRADE (UPI) — One of the most severe earthquakes ever recorded leveled about 80 per cent of the ancient Yugoslav city of Debar today, Radio Belgrade reported.

An official broadcast said at least eight persons were killed and more were feared buried in the rubble.

At least 40 persons were injured, in addition to 10 soldiers who suffered minor injuries during rescue operations, it said. The broadcast said the number of injured was "greater than expected" but did not elaborate.

10 PER CENT

The broadcast said 10 per cent of the buildings in the resort city in Macedonia were destroyed and 80 per cent rendered uninhabitable, leaving 10,000 persons homeless.

The Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said the quake's center was Debar itself.

Yugoslav authorities were rushing food and tank trucks of water into the quake zone which was without water or electricity.

The quake trembled the earth for almost 200 miles around Debar, located in an earthquake belt that runs down to Greece. Skopje, 90 miles to the northwest, was hit by a 1963 quake that killed 1,100 persons.

Debar is near the Albanian border and officials said damage might have been done in Albania but no word on the quake came out of the tiny Red Chinese satellite nation.

RICHTER SCALE

The Skopje Observatory measured the quake between 8 and 9 on the open-end Richter Scale.

On the basis of available information, seismologists consider a quake that hit Japan in 1933 and one that rocked South America in 1906 as the world's most severe at 8.9 on the Richter scale.

Seismologists consider a magnitude of more than 9 on the Richter Scale beyond the realm of possibility.

AID DELAYED

Aid to Debar was delayed by transport difficulties. Landslides blocked roads in the area, and special teams had to be sent to open them. There is no railroad to the town, in a deep valley at the foot of a mountain, and bad weather grounded army helicopters in Skopje.

The region where the quake was strongest has about 16,000 residents, mostly farm workers. A radio request for 10,000 tents was received in Belgrade.

Woman Found Dead In Home Of Bullet Wound

Mrs. Erika I. Sutfin, a 38-year-old Tamalpais Valley housewife, was found dead today of a gunshot wound in her home at 318 Cardinal Court.

Keith C. Craig, deputy county coroner, said the wound was self-inflicted with a .38 caliber revolver. Mrs. Sutfin had been in ill health for some time, the family said.

She was found in bed at 7:20 a.m. by her daughter, Clarissa, 17, Craig said. The woman had apparently muffled the sound of the weapon with a pillow.

Her husband, Daniel, is an Army chief warrant officer stationed in Sacramento. He had left her the gun for protection from prowlers.

Born in Germany, Mrs. Sutfin lived in Marin 12 years.

Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley is handling arrangements.

Civic Affairs Nomination, Annual Session Planned

The Marin Council for Civic Affairs last night set up a nominating committee to prepare for the annual meeting and election of officers, scheduled for 8 p.m. Feb. 28.

Seymour Kashin, manager of the Marin County Transit District, will be principal speaker at the annual meeting.

The nominating committee chosen last night includes Muriel Appenzeller (chairman), Milen C. Dempster, Marett Boissevain, Kay Cowden, and Walter Zurcher.

Mrs. Robert Mertle, secretary, reported that about 25 members of the civic affairs council attended last night's meeting. Mrs. Ezilda Lucheta presided.

The civic affairs council last night also:

APPOINTMENTS — Named Mrs. Harold Watkin of Kentfield to the board of directors to succeed Ed J. Newmeier, who resigned. John Bissinger also announced his resignation last night but no successor has been named.

FRC — Heard Eve Citrin, clinical director of the Marin County Family rehabilitation Center, discuss the controversial program which will be phased out Jan. 31.

BRIDGE DISTRICT — Appointed Mrs. William Anderson to sit in on meetings of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, and asked the bridge district to notify them of meetings.

Marin City—Heard Margaret Azevedo report on the progress made by the Marin City Foundation, which is an action group interested in improving conditions at Marin City.

Bridge Competition

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The blue ribbon pairs event of the American Contract Bridge League's four national championships competition got underway yesterday with the field of 146 pairs.

Demonstrators Get Jail Sentences

SAN JOSE (AP)—A husband and wife convicted of resisting arrest during a San Jose State College demonstration Oct. 9 against Marine Corps recruiting have been sentenced to 15 days in jail.

A municipal court judge passed sentence on Mr. and Mrs. Clifford A. Ruesch yesternesday after rejecting a Santa Clara County Adult Probation Department recommendation that they be fined and placed on probation.

Image Sessions Are Needed For California's Assembly

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Things have come to such a pass in the Assembly that image sessions have to be held.

An image session is where the 80 members of the Assembly of both parties — at least as many of them as are present — meet behind closed doors for a supposedly non-partisan discussion.

The image of the Assembly has been important since early 1966, when a proposition was being presented to the people for a pay increase to $16,000 a year. Since that proposition was approved, the image has been important in order to show the voters they didn't make a mistake.

Early in 1967, the Assembly held a closed-door caucus to talk mainly about maintaining decorum on the Assembly floor. The leadership feared the state of disorganization during sessions might create the wrong impression on visitors.

The Assembly prohibited newspaperreading when in session and barred the press from talking to members on the floor.

This week's caucus was on absenteeism. The Assembly has been operating with less than 70 members, although there normally aren't that many on hand at any one time. Voting is electronic, the push of a switch —and members often can be seen running around pushing switches for other members who are in the coffee shop or in their offices meeting constituents.

The latest closed-door session of the Assembly was marred somewhat when two veteran members took the floor and asked for an explanation of just what they were supposed to be doing during the current special session.

One of the veterans complained he had to ask members of the press to find out what was going on.

The Legislature now is in its fourth week of the special session and has two measures before it — reapportionment of congressional districts, and correction of an error in the 1967 tax bill which would let some taxpayers escape, with a total shortage of about $25 to $50 million a year.

Marine Killed In Bridge Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Marine Sgt. Bert W. Eaton, 36, was killed yesterday in a collision on the Bay Bridge.

Eaton was run over by a bus after being thrown from his car in a crash with an auto driven by Florentino Espiogy of Vallejo, who escaped serious injury

Opera House Move Proposed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Efforts are being made to move the old South San Francisco Opera House from the Mission District to the waterfront.

The proposal was made in hopes of saving the 80-year-old structure, which survived the 1906 earthquake in fine shape, from demolition.

The City Landmarks Preservation Advisory Board said yesterday that it was trying to find a new location near the Embarcadero.

Reagan Not Planning On Any Replacements

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has denied he has any plans to fire Lyn Nofziger as his communications director, and said Nofziger has not given any indication of being about to resign.

Reagan first was asked at a news conference if he had any plans to replace Nofziger with Travis Cross.

"No. I'm making no replacements in staff at all," the governor answered.

The governor was asked if Norfziger had taken the assignment on a one-year basis and that the time was nearly up.

Reagan said some members of his staff had agreed to serve on leaves of absence but, for "obvious reasons, I'm not going to say who those people are, because I think it could conceivably affect their effectiveness."

Reagan said also that, if Nofziger had any plans to resign, "he's keeping a secret to himself."

Nofziger has been blamed by some because of reports he told newsmen that some members of the staff had been fired because of alleged homosexual activities. Reagan denied that any firings had taken place because of this and denied that Nofziger had told anyone they had. Nofziger confirmed at a press conference that he had said nothing.

Nofziger was a Washington columnist before entering the Reagan campaign last year.

Defendant Pleads Innocent To Theft

Stephen W. Scanlon of 1563 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to a charge of felony grand theft stemming from the disappearance of more than $4,000 June 12 from a San Rafael gas station, where he worked.

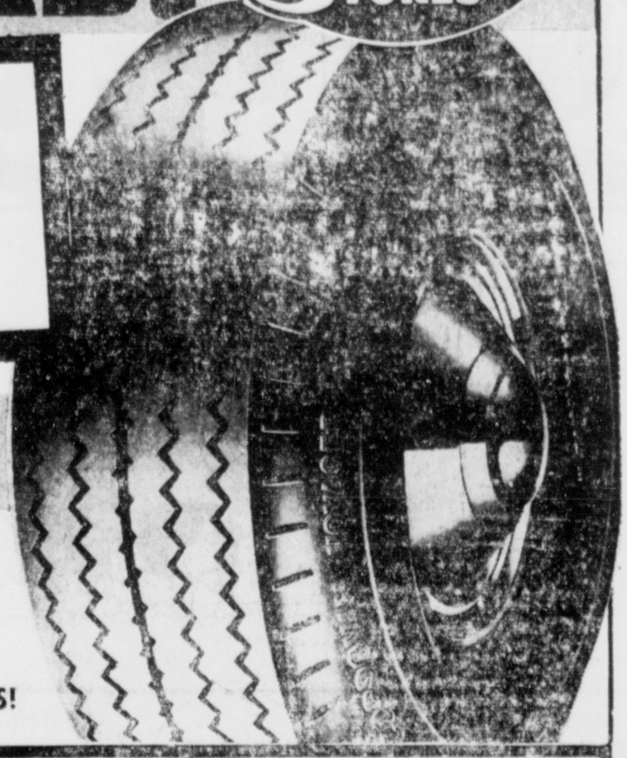

Scanlon is accused of taking the money from Regal service station at 1001 Lincoln Avenue. Preliminary hearing was set for Dec. 7.

Today is Thursday, Nov. 30, the 334th day of 1967 with 31 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter andts its new phase. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1782, preliminary peace articles ending the French revolutionary war were signed in Paris.

In 1874, Sir Winston Spencer Churchill, twice Britain's prime minister, was born.

In 1939, the Russo-Finnish war started after the Soviet Union failed to obtain territorial concessions from Finland.

In 1954, Prime Minister Daniel Malan of the Union of South Africa resigned and was replaced by extreme nationalist Johannes Strydom.

A thought for the day—Spanish writer Cervantes said: "There is no sauce in the world like hunger."

TIME AND TIDE

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Ever Think The Ace Of Trumps Can Be Played Any Time

You might think that the ace of trumps is one card you don't have to worry about; save your brains for the other cards.

This would be wrong; you still have to pick the right time to take a trick with your ace of trumps.

THIN CONTRACT

When today's hand was played in the 1953 world championship, John R. Crawford got to a reasonable but thin contract of four spades.

He took the ace of hearts, discarded a diamond, cashed the ace of clubs and ruffed a club in dummy.

It was important to get back to his hand to continue the establishment of the clubs, but Crawford didn't make the mistake of playing the ace of trumps.

Instead, he played a low trump from both hands, allowing West to win with the nine of spades.

West returned a heart, forcing declarer to ruff. The time to cash the ace of spades had still not come. Crawford led another low club.

RUFFS HIGH

West could not gain by discarding. Crawford would ruff in dummy, get to his hand with the ace of trumps, and then lead good clubs until West took his last trump.

Instead, West stepped in with the king of trumps, shutting dummy's ruff out. West returned another heart, forcing South to ruff with the jack. Now the time had come, and Crawford led out the ace of trumps.

RUN CLUBS

This drew the last trump from both opponents, and Crawford could stay in his hand to run the rest of is established clubs.

Try taking the ace of trumps early and see what happens. South may manage to set up his clubs, but he cannot get back to his hand to win tricks with them.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one club, and the next player bids one heart.

You hold:
♠—10 6
♥—K 9 6
♦—6 8 6 5
♣—Q J 7 6

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs.

This describes your hand better than a free response of one notrump. If partner can bid again, you may be able to suggest game in notrump.

★ TIRED OF EXAGGERATED REAL ESTATE ADVERTISING

THEN READ THIS COPY. $65,000. A normal seller not pressured by "disaster" offered his Idylewood Road home for sale at his first price of $75,000. He admits he was too high. At $69,500 we had some interest but no offers, so he reduced it to $65,000 which is embarrassingly close to the Assessor's figure. He had it built in 1957 and it shows its age in spots but the 3 bedrooms are large with good-built-in cabinetry. The den is almost too big to be called cozy and, naturally, it has a big dining room. With a choice of lots 10 years ago, he got a good one of over an acre. The home is nothing super or sensational, it's just a comfortable well planned and well built residence offered at a price which is very simple to justify by an owner who wants to move to his ranch. Please call us till 8 p.m. at our Kentfield office. 461-2900.

CREAMPUFF '67 BUICK RIVIERA

Here's a really luxurious Buick Riviera coupe in jet black with black custom bucket seats with console.

We just took this car in trade from local man who trades every year on another new Riviera. Just over 10,000 miles on this beautiful classic car. You absolutely cannot tell from new.

Fully equipped with power steering, power brakes, power windows, custom interior, custom chrome wheels and a brand new set of white wall tires which we just installed and was the only thing we had to do to this car to put it on the lot.

Sold new for over $5700 but we'll sell for only $4250.

Hydro-Cortisone Proves To Be A Good Treatment For Acne

VAN DELLEN

New acne remedies are aimed at correcting inflammation and over-activity of the sweat and oil-producing glands. One such product contains hydrocortisone to lessen inflamation, an antibiotic to kill germs, and an anti-perspirant to lessen the oil and sweat.

Sulfur, a common ingredient of most acne lotions, also is included because it removes dead skin cells that tend to clog the pores.

ACCORDING TO New York dermatologist, Doctor Irwin I. Lubowe, skin lesions cleared rapidly in 85 per cent of 93 victims after this formula was applied. The group also used a detergent soap which foamed well and acted as a pleasant cleansing agent.

The cause of acne is not known.

In the past, the adolescent awakening of sex glands along with overactive oil and sweat glands were suspect.

Blackheads and pimples developed in the greasy epidermis. Bacteria are common residents of the skin but under these circumstances they multiply.

CERTAIN FOODS play a role in some persons, but less often than we have been led to believe.

It is Dr. Lubowe's opinion that papules and pustules are related to some irritation or allergic reaction to the fatty acids in the skin oils. These theoretical considerations deal with the details of what makes the pores overactive and susceptible to infection.

Many other fine acne preparations are available. Some require a prescription and others are available over the counter. Dermasorcin, Sulfacet-R, Acne-Cort-Dome, Fostril, Komed, and Loroxide-HC are among these.

CLEANLINESS is most important and the detergent soaps are effective for this purpose. Deeper lesions such as skin abscesses require expert care to avoid scarring.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

HEADACHE AND BOWEL

B. H. writes: My head aches when I'm constipated. Can you explain why?

REPLY

No direct relationship exists between the bowel and the mechanism associated with headache. On the other hand, the same factors causing constipation may also be inducing the head pain. These include fatigue, anxiety, and change in bowel habits associated with travel.

INTESTINAL GROWLS

N. W. writes: I get spells of growling stomach at the most inopportune times. Is there any simple trick to stop these noises?

REPLY

Sometimes taking a drink of water or eating a cracker or two will do the trick. Another maneuver is to drown out the intestinal symphony with constant chatter.

VEIN SURGERY

Mrs. T. writes: Can varicose veins be operated on during pregnancy, or is it better to wear elastic hose until after the baby arrives?

REPLY

No, but I say this with tongue in cheek, for it never pays to be dogmatic in medicine.

BATHS RELAX COLOTIS

Mrs. M. writes: Are hot baths helpful for a person with colitis?

REPLY

Yes, because of their relaxing and soothing effects.

STROKE IN CHILD

Mrs. A. M. writes: What would cause cerebral hemorrhage in a young child?

REPLY

The youngster came into the world with a defective or weakened blood vessel (aneurysm) in the brain.

BLOOD VESSEL SURGEON

O. C. writes: What does a vascular surgeon do?

REPLY

These physicians specialize in surgery of the blood vessels. Those who operate on the heart are classified as cardiovascular surgeons.

INHERITED GENES

Mrs. P. J. writes: What is a genetic disease?

REPLY

An hereditary disease in which traits are passed from one generation to another through the genes (genetically).

ANGINAL ATTACKS

G.S. writes: Does angina pectoris ever disappear?

REPLY

Yes, when new blood vessels by-pass the blocked coronary artery. Occasionally the symptom disappears after an attack of coronary thrombosis.

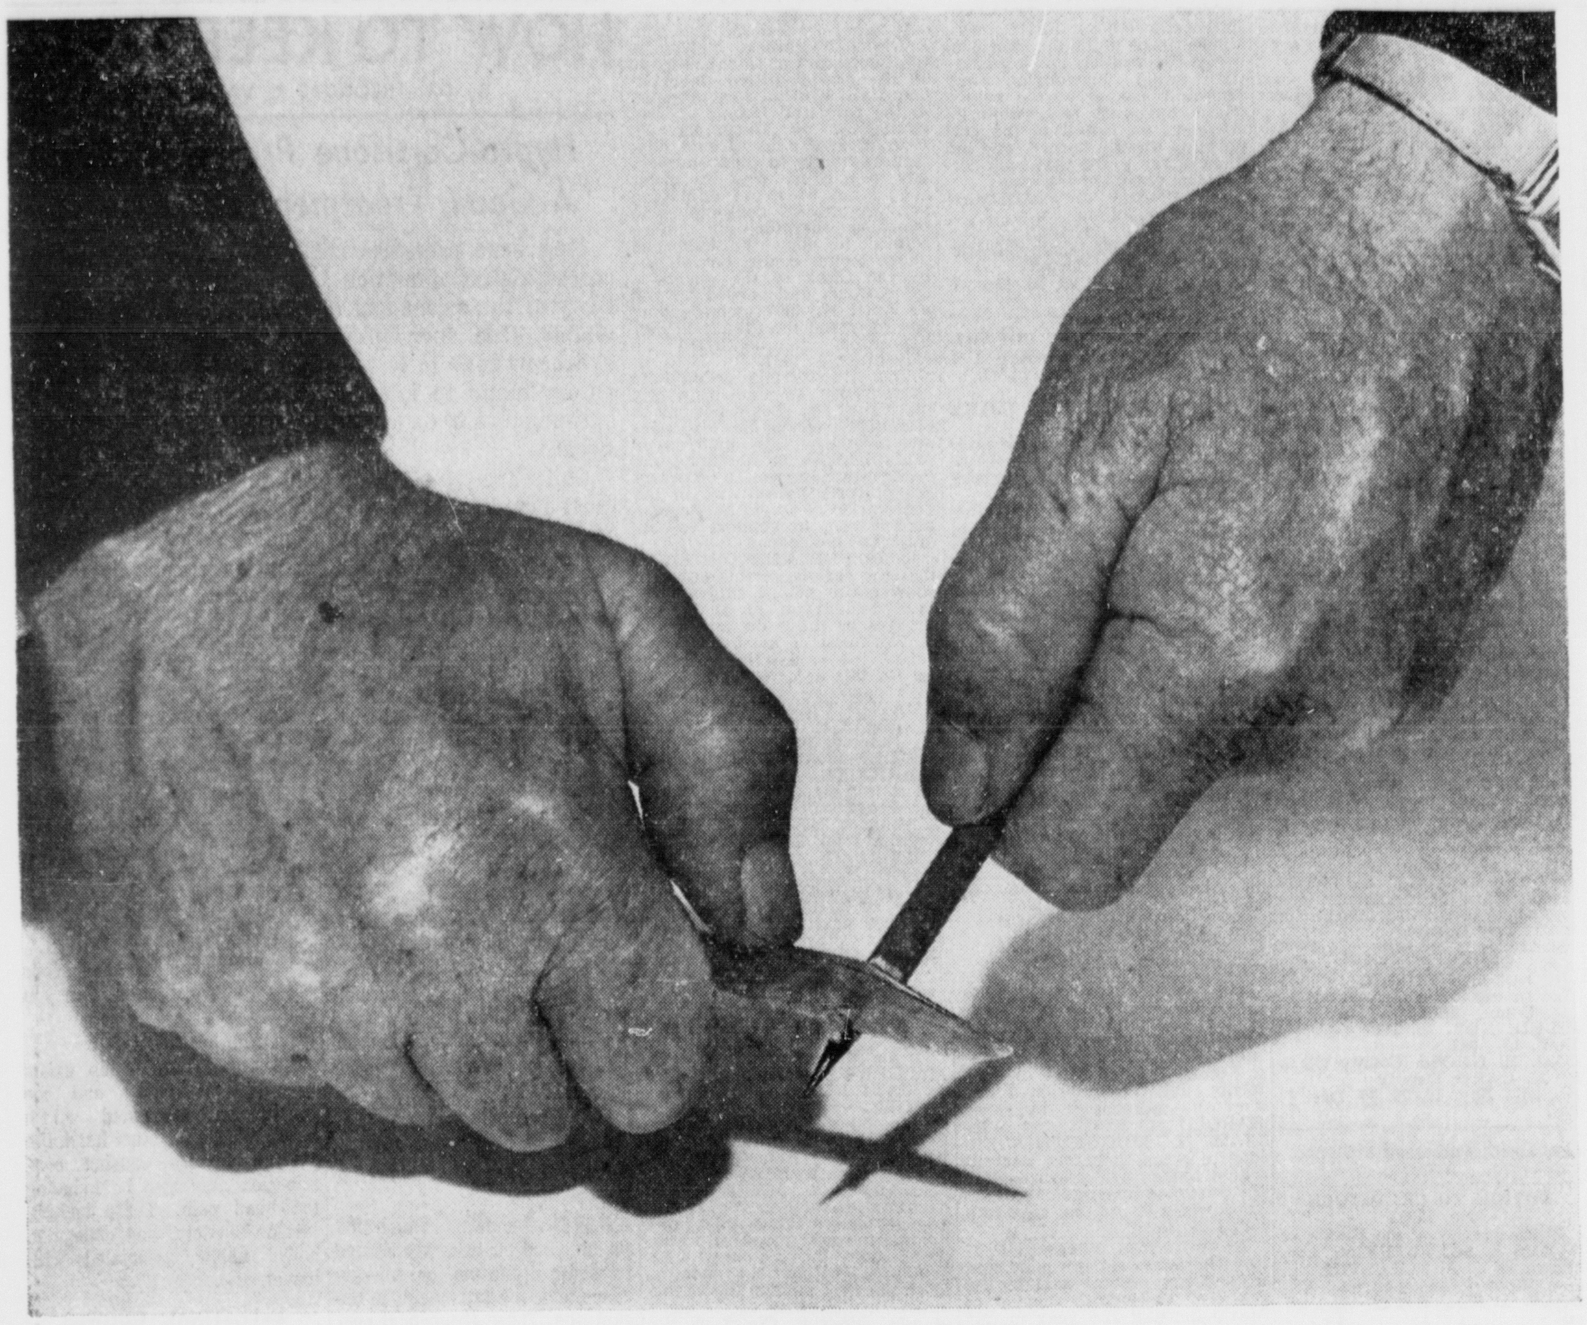

RADAR IN ARTHRITIS

P.G.Z. writes: Is arthritis being treated with radar?

REPLY

This sounds like quackery to me. You may mean ultrasonic therapy. These waves differ from those used in radar.

How to sharpen up your sales this Fall

The biggest consumer buying season of the year is coming up fast. Here's a suggestion to help you develop more store traffic and profitable sales.

☆

MARKET APPEARS RIPE FOR ACTION

No question Marin retail store sales have been slower this year, up just 0.6% first six months. But with the national climate changing, higher production, more income, business is due for a "breakout" of buying. And that goes for Marin.

☆ Savings are at an all-time high—6.5% of average family income in 1967.

☆ Retailers nationally expect a 7.1% sales gain in Christmas business, '67 over '66. Why shouldn't Marin?

☆ Marin average household income is now $11,337 —highest of any county in all 13 Western states.

1. NO QUESTION, THE POTENTIAL IS GREAT. The point is, are you willing to go after it? How can you reach the Marin buying public and attract people to your merchandise, your values?

2. BEST DECISION: PROMOTE UP TO THE MARKET! If you don't reach out to the public, how can you expect buyers to come to YOU? Tell your story, tell it well, tell it often . . . in good, consistent advertising.

3. DON'T SETTLE FOR LESS THAN MARIN'S LARGEST READER AUDIENCE—the 42,661 subscriber families of the Independent-Journal. This way, you reach 7 out of 10 homes in Marin, at lowest cost. And remember, this is PAID circulation, not throw-away!

4. BUYERS' EYES LIGHT UP IN THE I-J! Because the I-J is the home newspaper . . . where people look for news of advertised items. Brother, how they read it — cover to cover! This is the biggest READING LIGHT IN MARIN. Puts your store where the buying begins!

5. RESULT: IMMEDIATE ACTION, MORE SALES. This isn't fancy talk. Ask Marin's most successful merchants what the I-J can do. Then do it yourself. Plan, prepare and promote consistently. Don't leave your business to chance—CONTROL IT!

6. THE PAY-OFF IS IN TELLING YOUR STORY TO THE MOST PEOPLE AT LOWEST COST—IN THE COUNTY-WIDE I-J.

Put it to work!

I-J NET PAID CIRCULATION AS OF OCTOBER 25, 1967

'Stop And Frisk' Legality Plea Made To Tribunal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rallying to the side of policemen, the Justice Department has stepped into a Supreme Court debate on "stop and frisk" laws with a plea that current street questioning procedures be stamped constitutional.

Limited detention of suspicious-looking persons on the street without an arrest warrant and frisking them for weapons for the policeman's self-protection is consistent with the Fourth Amendment's ban on unreasonable searches and seizures, Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold told the court Wednesday.

The Justice Department is not a party to the three stop-and-frisk cases the court is scheduled to hear Dec. 11. It volunteered its views, Griswold said, because federal agents often face the same problem as local policemen—the need "to stop and detain persons for a limited period of time in order to obtain and verify information."

Civil liberties groups and others are pressing the court to prohibit street questioning not justified with a showing of probable cause.

Gang Member Has Reformed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young Negro who ran with a gang for many years, then decided that wasn't the course for him, will go to Paris next month to lecture on juvenile delinquency.

"Most cats think it's a great thing," McSamuel Carr, 21, said of the trip. "No one's putting me down for it."

Carr is a $500-a-month street worker with the Youth for Service Agency. He recently graduated from a year's pilot program for former toughs at San Francisco State College.

On Dec. 14, Carr and his mentor, Mario D'Angeli, will jet to Paris where D'Angeli, a social welfare professor at the college, will lecture on new approaches to juvenile delinquency. So will Carr.

Model Rail Show Set In Santa Rosa

A public model railroad show for model railroad buffs in Marin and Sonoma counties will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday at the Luther Burbank room of the Santa Rosa Savings and Loan in Santa Rosa, according to Robert Rankin of Novato.

The show is sponsored by the Redwood Empire Division of the National Model Railroad Association, said Rankin, owner of Rankin's Hobby Land in Novato.

Court Action On Parking Fees

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Contempt proceedings have been started against Southern Pacific for ignoring a State Public Utilities Commission order to stop charging parking lot fees at San Francisco Peninsula depots.

The action was taken by the PUC after the State Supreme Court refused yesterday an SP request to halt a hearing on an order to show cause why the railroad should not be held in contempt.

More than 40 specific alleged violations are spelled out in the show cause order. Fines could amount to $44,000.

St. Vincent's Boys Will Display Art

Paintings, sculpture and Christmas decorations done by students at St. Vincent's School for Boys, San Rafael, will be displayed at an art show in the school auditorium on Dec. 9 and 10, school officials announced.

Hours for the show will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. both days.

It's Showdown Time On Police Services

Representatives from cities and from unincorporated areas of the county are expected to collide head-on tonight at a hearing on the proposed county service area for police services.

A special hearing, before the Marin County Board of Supervisors, is set for 8 p.m. in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

In general, city residents favor the formation of a county service area for police services so that city taxpayers, who pay for their own city police, will not have to pay as much for sheriff's services.

LARGE REVENUES

Those in unincorporated areas contend that cities get large revenues from sales taxes and therefore should rightly help pay for sheriff's services.

This sharp split in views is exemplified by the latest letters that have been sent to the Marin County Supervisors.

"We urge the formation of this county service area as the first step in eliminating double taxation for city residents," wrote president Jack A. Caldwell of the Christmas Tree Hill Dwellers Association of Corte Madera. "Residents of incorporated areas expect to pay for their own police departments but resent the additional tax they now pay for sheriff's patrol services not applying to them."

The Parkview Terrace Improvement Association of Corte Madera also complains of "double taxation" and urges formation of the county service area.

OUTSIDE LIMITS

The Meadowsweet Improvement Association, just outside the Corte Madera city limits, takes the opposite view. Chairman L. L. Stokely asserts that his board of directors wants to postpone formation of the county service area until a through study is made by individuals "equipped to understand tax problems and police problems on a countywide basis," and added, "the city county services committee does not meet this qualification."

Many cities have urged that the county service area be set up, but they have been opposed just as adamantly by organizations and individuals from unincorporated areas, who face higher taxes if the area is formed.

Transit Meeting Date Changed

The Tri-Partite Transit Committee, representing Marin, San Francisco and the Golden Gate Bridge District, will meet on Dec. 14 instead of on Dec. 13 at the bridge toll plaza.

The meeting is set for 10 a.m. in the bridge district administration building.

Normally, the meeting falls on the second Wednesday of the month. However, the meeting was pushed back one day to Dec. 14 because the Assembly transportation and commerce committee has scheduled a public hearing in San Francisco at 10 a.m. Dec. 13.

Anti-Draft Support Out

The governing body of Redwoods Presbyterian Church, Larkspur, decided this week that it will not support the student association of San Francisco Theological Seminary and other church groups in offering sanctuary to men avoiding the draft.

The session of the Larkspur church, which is composed or 12 laymen and the pastor, said they took this attitude because of "faith in the orderly process of our government."

Frank S. Hamilton, pastor of the church, emphasized that governing body speaks only for itself, not for the rest of the members of the church.

N.L. Owners To Talk Expansion

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—The National League doesn't know whether to sit tight or get off the idea of expanding as late as 1971.

The idea belongs to President Warren Giles and if all 10 N.L. owners go along with it today the American League, which already has committed itself to expanding in 1969, will get a two-year jump.

Both leagues get together at a joint meeting today and the A.L. will tell the N.L. what it already knows—that starting in 1969 Kansas City and Seattle will be added to the junior circuit structure.

"Then we'll go into a meeting of our own and decide what we're going to do," explained Giles. "I've said I'm in favor of expanding in 1971. I believe in preparing for a big step like this a minimum of three years. But that's only my opinion. I can't speak for all the others in our league."

All the others in Giles' league do not necessarily go along with him.

GIANTS FAVOR EXPANSION

The San Francisco Giants, for one, would like the N.L. to expand the same time the A.L. will in 1969.

"I know this much," said Giles, "We won't name any of the new cities today. But I hope to get some sort of timetable as to when we will expand. I'm sure we'll also discuss how we'll allocate players for the new clubs and what the price will be for a new franchice."

YANKS LOSE OUT

On the trading front, the New York Yankees pressed their hunt for a shortstop after striking out a second time.

They tried for Zoilo Versalles and failed and then failed again when Luis Aparicio went from Baltimore back to the Chicago White Sox in a six-man deal.

To get the 33-year-old Aparicio back after a five-year absence, the White Sox gave up pitchers Bruce Howard and Roger Nelson and infielder Don Buford. Along with Aparicio, the White Sox got outfielder Russ Snyder and rookie first baseman—outfielder John Matias, who then was sent to Hawaii of the PCL.

The Cleveland Indians and California Angels completed the latest deal when they traded Chuck Hinton and Jose Cardenal.

Another Try By Spurrier?

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — It still appears likely that Steve Spurrier will be at the throttle when Chicago calls on San Francisco Sunday at Kezar Stadium.

Coach Jack Christiansen had said he hesitated over starting a rookie because he thought the Bears' unusual defenses might confuse him. But after looking at films of the Bears, he commented that the Bears do use some variations but that these would not influence his choice of a starting quarterback.

ACTIVATED

Either Jim Jackson or rookie Wayne Trimble will be activated for the last three games to replace injured defensive back Jim Johnson. A choice will also be made between quarterback George Mira, who has a sore knee, and split end Dave Parks, who is out of the Bear game at least with a hamstring muscle pull. Both men are playing out their options.

Christiansen said that "we'll have to decide which man would do us the most good."

The 49er coach said that the Bears blitz about 40 per cent of the time and often rush a safety. They also often go to five defensive backs and only two linebackers upon occasions.

The Bears lost five of their first seven but have won three of their last four, losing only 17-13 to Green Bay.

SCRAMBLE

Defensive coach Dick Voris calls it a "(Fran) Tarkenton type of scramble...Concannon operates a lot like Tarkenton. If he gets any kind of inside pressure, he scrambles to one side or another and the receivers move back toward him. It's exactly the same way Fran used to play with the Vikings."

Voris said that what makes it tough is the speedy corps of Bear receivers, including halfback Gale Sayers, probably the top broken field runner in the NFL.

Young Gridders Off To Honolulu

Fifty-one Terra Linda Junior Trojan players and coaches boarded a Pan-American airliner at San Francisco International Airport at nine this morning.

Next stop: Honolulu.

The Junior Trojans, champions of the Marin County Pop Warner Football League, will be in Hawaii for a four-day stay which will include taking on the Kanahoe Rams Saturday afternoon in the key game of a Pop Warner Triple Header in the Mele Kalikimaka (Merry Christmas) Bowl at the 15,000-capacity Aeia Stadium, near Pearl Harbor.

The players will be staying in the homes of their opponents, as guests.

Included in the activities in store for the Marinites will be a grand luau sponsored by the parents and coaches of the Rams.

The Junior Trojans will leave Hawaii late Sunday and will arrive in San Francisco at 6:30 a.m. Monday.

They'll go into the game with an 8-1 record after suffering their first loss of the season to the Redwood City Junior 49ers at College of Marin last Saturday.

They'll be playing without high-scoring halfback Rick Trono, out with a back injury.

Golfer Bo Wininger, 45, Suffers Stroke

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Professional golfer Bo Wininger, 45, suffered an apparent stroke today and was hospitalized.

Hospital attendants said Wininger's right side was paralyzed by the attack.

A native of Oklahoma City, Wininger currently plays out of Las Vegas, Nev.

Wininger was born Nov. 16, 1922, in Chico, Calif., and graduated from Oklahoma State University before turning pro in 1952.

He played seven full seasons on the Professional Golfers' Association tour, then began making less frequent appearances on the tour. His official earnings through 1965 totaled $160,984, including six first prize purses.

His biggest check was the $8,000 he earned by taking fourth place in the 1965 PGA championship.

Wininger, sports director at Desert Inn and Star Dust country clubs in Las Vegas, made very few appearances on the PGA tour the past season.

U.S., Russia May Renew Competition

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Amateur Athletic Union is pondering the possibility that the United States and Russia may resume dual sports event rivalry.

David A. Matlin, AAU president, said a proposition had been received from Russia for the repayment by Russia, over a period of years, of the some $125,000 in losses to the United States due to cancellation of the 1966 dual track meet at Los Angeles.

Russia said its athletes backed out of the meet as a protest against U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

Matlin said the situation will be taken up by various AAU committees in track and field, swimming, basketball, wrestling, boxing, gymnastics and other sports.

However, Donald F. Hull, AAU executive director, said the 1968 Olympics in Mexico preclude any all-out Soviet-U.S. dual competitions until 1969, at the earliest.

The AAU's 80th annual convention here ends Saturday.

Oaks Lose As Rally Falls Short

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—The touring Oakland Oaks take on the western-division leading New Orleans Buccaneers here tonight in an American Basketball Association tilt.

The Oaks, fifth in the western division, were humbled 102-91 last night at Houston by the Mavericks, who quelched a last-period Oak surger with a 10-point spurt. The Mavericks had led 48-41 at the half, and stern measures were called for after the Oaks worked the score to within one point of a tie, 83-82, with six minutes left in game.

Ron Frantz was high man with 28 points. Houston's Art Becker had 21.

Baker To Return To Canadian Ball

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Former Oregon State football star Terry Baker, the 1962 Heisman Trophy winner, plans to play again next season in the Canadian League.

Baker, who failed to make it with the Los Angeles Rams after signing for a big bonus, played for Edmonton's Eskimos last season. He was asked about retirement rumors yesterday and vehemently denied them.

Baker also plans to earn his law degree at the University of Southern California.

Veteran Orioles Trainer Resigns

BALTIMORE (AP) — Trainer Eddie Weidner, the sage of the baseball clubhouse, was officially retired today after 52 years with the Baltimore Orioles.

A man who dearly loved the game of baseball and found the off-seasons the most difficult time of life, tried to take the retirement philosophically.

"I won't miss the game much," he said. "Even if you eat chocolates forever, you get tired of them."

Warriors Vs. Hawks In Biggie

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— The San Francisco Warriors return home from a 113-95 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers to take on the St. Louis Hawks in National Basketball Association play at the Cow Palace tomorrow night.

The Warriors are only one-half game behind the first-place Hawks who are in San Diego tonight.

SEVENTH STRAIGHT

The win last night was the seventh straight for the Warriors and the second time in a month they have stymied the NBA champion 76ers

Philly's Wilt Chamberlain wound up with only 12 points Wednesday night, netting his first field goal with 5:02 left in the game as the Warriors led 98-82.

Warrior center Nate Thurmond outrebounded Chamberlain 25-23. He also held the all-time league scoring champion to three-for-11 from the field while Chamberlain could only connect with 6 of 17 from the free throw line.

The Novato Jayvees also won handily, 45-20.

Heavyweight Eliminations Nearing Semi-Final Round

LOUIVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Oscar Bonavena fights Jimmy Ellis in a semifinal bout of the World Boxing Association's heavyweight tournament Saturday, but Bonavena's manager says the real man to beat for the championship is Joe Frazier.

Meanwhile, in Oakland it was announced Thad Spencer of San Francisco and Jerry Quarry of Los Angeles had signed to fight in Oakland Arena Feb. 3 in the other semi-final elimination bout.

Frazier, the unbeaten Philadelphia heavyweight, elected to stay out of the WBA's eight-man tournament to select a successor for deposed champion Cassius Clay.

POLISHED

"Frazier is the most polished fighter around," said Dr. Marvin Goldberg, Bonavena's manager. "He's a busy fighter and he never stops coming at you but Oscar would still beat him because of his superior strength."

But what about Frazier's split decision over Bonavena?

"Oscar lost no prestige in that fight," Goldberg said. "He knocked Frazier down twice before losing the split decision. But I would say that fight will have to be fought over in the ring again, if Oscar wins this tournament, as he should."

Goldberg thinks Bonavena's strength also will give him a victory over Ellis.

"Ellis just doesn't have the staying power. Oscar will wear him down."

Goldberg's opinion of Ellis, who formerly fought as a middleweight, is that he is "basically an overgrown light-heavyweight."

"I don't see where all this poundage has helped him," Goldberg said. "I think it has slowed him down.

"How much a fighter weighs doesn't make that much difference," Goldberg said. "Rocky Marciano was unbeatable at 182 pounds."

Goldberg and Marciano are good friends and have started plans for a boxing school in New York. Goldberg has compared Bonavena to "a bigger version of Rocky Marciano." Bonavena weighs 207.

If there is one thing Goldberg has tried to instill in Bonavena, it is the "intense drive" that Marciano had when he was the heavyweight champion. "If Oscar had that, he would be a world beater," Goldberg said.

The Bonavena-Ellis fight has been depicted as a battle between the classic boxing skills of Ellis and the brute strength of Bonavena.

Goldberg agrees. "I would liken this fight to the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney fight," he said.

In that fight, Dempsey was the brawler with great strength and Tunney was the classic boxer. But Goldberg's comparison could be an unfavorable omen.

Gene Tunney won that fight.

Drake Quint Turns Back Balboa

Defending Marin County Athletic League champion Drake opened its 1967 bastekball season at Drake last night, subduing 1966 Tournament of Champions runnerup Balboa, 51-42.

The Pirates did the job by playing good defense. They jumped off to a 33-15 half-time lead and coasted the rest of the way, although the Bucaneers, minus all five starters from last year's team, still outscored th Pirates, 15-6, in the third period.

Football standouts Don Stone and Don Alvarado pased the Pirate scoring with 11 points apiece.

The Drake "B" cagers lost a 35-40 decision to the Balboa lightweights.

Drooping Seals Lose, Take On Leaders Tonight

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The drooping Oakland Seals, freshly flattened in Pittsburgh, tangle with first place Philadelphia of the National Hockey League's Western Division tonight.

The Pittsburgh Penguins beat the Seals 6-1 last night, dashing their hopes of busting a losing streak of 10 games on the road. Sad hopes appear no more lustrous against the Quakers.

The Penguins' Les Binkley had goal-tending matters so much in hand that he missed a shutout at 11:42 of the final period when Gerry Ehman scored.

Seals' Coach Bert Olmstead had been hoping that his feeble offense would start to function despite the loss of top scorer Bill Hicke.

"We've tried to emphasize that our forwards should shoot the puck high against the goal tenders," he said prior to the Penguin push. He went on:

"A rising shot is tougher to handle and it provides a better opportunity for a follow shot if the goalie does get it."

Conditioning Is Yaz' Secret

WAKEFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski says conditioning made the difference in his fantastic 1967 season, and he's willing to "pay the price" in hopes of duplicating it.

"I gave this program all the credit in the world," the American League's Most Valuable Player said yesterday as he embarked once again on a rigorous schedule of daily gym workouts.

San Rafael Matmen Win

San Rafael High School's wrestling team downed Rancho Cotati, 38-23 in a dual meet yesterday at San Rafael High.

The Bulldog jayvees won, 37-10.

Mark Walker, Ray Wirts, Dave Stein and Charlie Collins won by falls for San Rafael. Mile Worman recorded a victory by decision and Ed Wasp, Rick Van Soest and Chris Klyse won by forfeit.

Robinson Supports Boycott

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Jackie Robinson, the ex-Brooklyn Dodger who was the first Negro to play major league baseball, expressed support yesterday for a move by some American Negro athletes to boycott the 1968 Olympics.

Robinson, a business executive and an adviser to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, said: "I say we use whatever means."

Robinson was asked by Sports Editor Bob McNamara of WTEN-TV, Albany, whether he thought "it is right" for Negro athletes to refuse to take part in the Olympics.

"Well," he replied, in a televised interview "I feel we got to use whatever means to get our rights here in this country. And I don't go for violence . . . But when, for 300 years, Negroes have been denied equal opportunity, some attention must be focused upon it.

"And I think this is what these youngsters are trying to do. I'm afraid leadership may not be right. I know very well this is not going to work. However, I have to admire these youngsters. . ."

Robinson was referring to a group of about 200 Negro athletes, including UCLA basketball star Lew Alcindor and some top U.S. college trackmen, who gathered in Los Angeles last week and agreed to press for a Negro boycott of the U.S. Olympic team.

Novato Matmen Are At It Again

By GARY TISCHLER

Well, it's that time of year again.

And if you're saying basketball, you're only half right.

There's this other sport. Wrestling. No, not Gorgeous George and the midgets. The high school variety.

And at Novato High School, the defending Marin County Athletic League champion Hornets, are at it again, doing what comes naturally. Winning.

The Hornets, who lost only three members of last year's powerful team, opened their season quitely last week, smashing Napa 55-3

It would appear that Ralph Cutler, who is considered by some the father of Marin County wrestling, has another winner of awesome proportions.

And the well may never run dry. The jayvees won too, 53-10.

"It does appear to be a good team," he said. "But it's a little early to tell. We'll have to wait and see how we do against Berkeley."

Included in that returning package are the mighty mite twins, Ken and Kirt Donaldsen and Corey Parfitt, who just got through an all-MCAL football season.

SPEAKING OF FOOTBALL, some of this fall's heroes are already busy branching out into basketball. Some of the box-scores look like reruns.

There's Bruce Kilby, playing what he knows best, defense, at Terra Linda.

Tam's talented Indians are almost all football oriented, with Don Mackin, Leroy Barrow and Ron Blasingame in the lineup.

They're not bad either. The trio accounted for 41 points in a 71-62 win over Petaluma, with Barrow scoring 21.

And Don Alvarado and Don Stone were among the starters for Drake's defending champion Pirates.

GREAT THINGS may come out of Oregon State soon. Or again.

Mike Biber of Tamalpais, everyboty's favorite receiver last year in the MCAL, is expected to be a possible starter for the Beavers next fall. And he'll only be a sophomore. That's inside word from the North Country via Tamalpais coach Willie Hector.

LOOK WHAT'S happening at Novato.

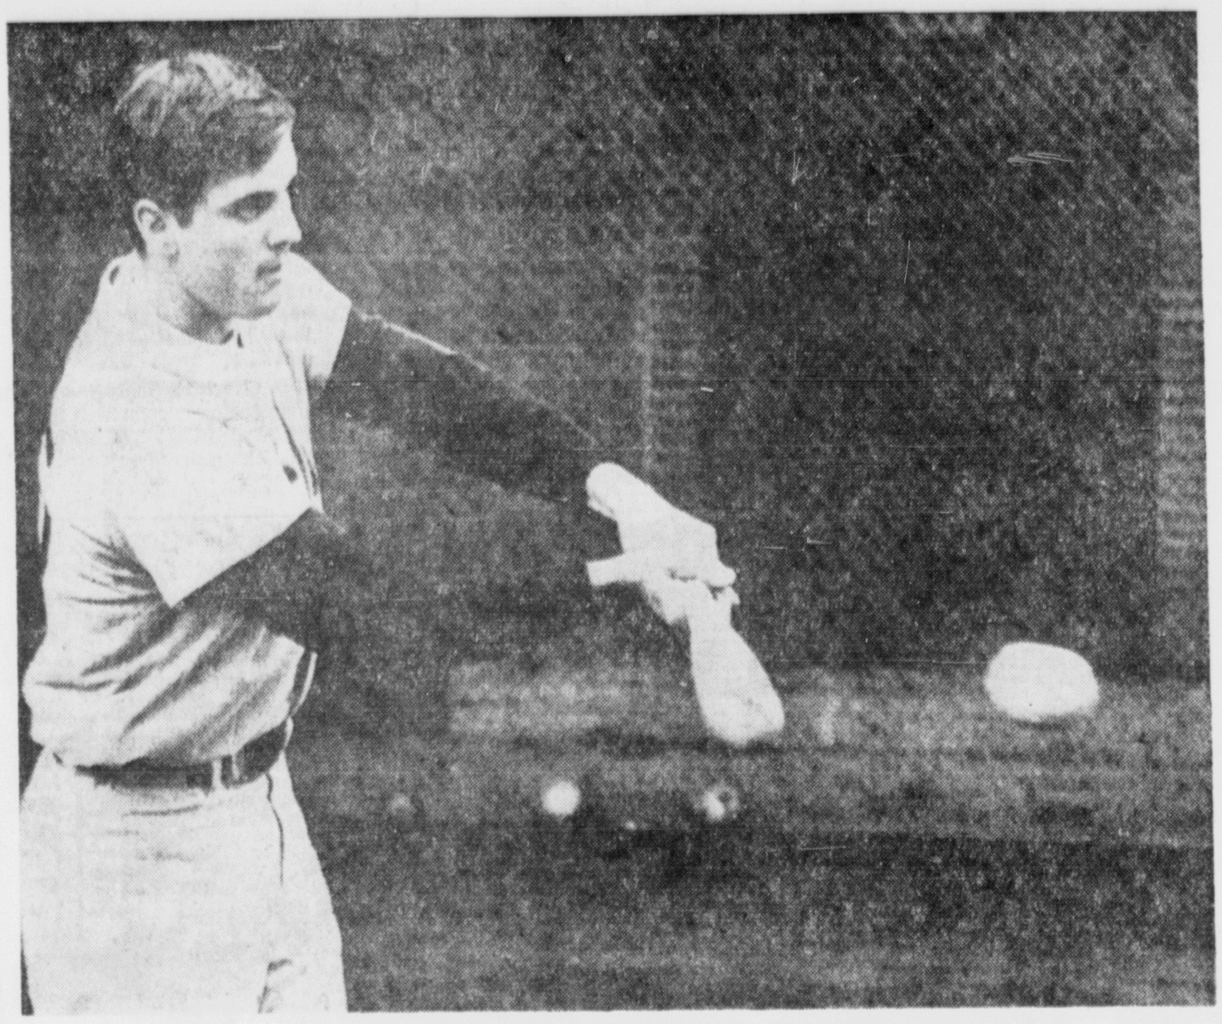

Cage coach Bill Aires, after suffereing through what had to be one of the longest seasons around with a two-win showing last year, had already done better after only a week of play.

The Hornets are undefeated in three straight outings, one better than last year.

"It's a young team," Aires said. "Bob Anderson, who was unable to play last year, has helped us a lot."

So have Ed Herrnberger, Steve McNally and footballer Bob Tait, among others. Things may ne looking up again for the Hornets.

NOVATO'S three-win mark has helped the MCAL to a 7-4 record against outside competition, with most of it coming against North Bay League entires, who should know better by now.

THE VANISHING BLUR

Boston Red Sox outfielder Tony Conigliaro, who suffered blurred vision after being hit by a pitched ball last summer, takes a cut at a ball and misses. Conigliaro said he saw it clearly, however, indicating that the blurred vision is no problem at Harvard's Dillon Field House in Cambridge, Mass. (AP Wirephoto)

Indiana: From Bottom To Top In One Year

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — John Pont, who transformed Indiana's football train from a deadend trolley into a Rose Bowl-bound express, said he attracted his crop of hotshot sophomores with a "don't fool them" recruiting pitch.

"We laid our offer on the line," Pont said. "As far as Indiana University was concerned, we told them the school had not been successful. But we said 'if you come here you will be on a team which will accomplish a first—one that will win.' "

HIGH RISE

The Hoosiers rose from a record of 3-16-1 the previous two seasons to a 9-1 record and a No. 4 ranking in the final Associated Press national poll of the season.

Indiana, which won its only Big Ten title in 1945 before the Rose Bowl pact with the West Coast teams was made, had its last winning season in 1958. Before Pont arrived in 1965, the record of the four preceding coaches was 42-108-3.

The scrambling tag was most associated with the sophomore trio of quarterback Harry Gonso, halfback John Isenbarger and flanker Jade Butcher. Gonso and Butcher teamed on electrifying pass plays. Isenbarger earned his fame with last-second decisions to run instead of punt. Pont's theory of "we're going to make mistakes, so we'll make them aggressively," affected his older players too.

In the Old Oaken Bucket battle with Purdue Saturday, senior linebacker Ken Kaczmarek showed the aggressiveness in the fourth quarter. He hit fullback Perry Williams charging through a line opening and forced Williams to fumble on the one-yard line.

That stalled Purdue's last strong drive, insuring Indiana's 19-14 victory, a tie for the Big Ten title and a Rose Bowl journey to face top-ranked Southern California on Jan. 1.

"I prefer my team uninhibited," Pont said. "I think football can be too staid. You have to have discipline and regimentation, but I still think young men have to be themselves."

He said sometimes he had to turn his back and clench his fists like the times Isenbarger tried and failed in his runs from punt formation.

"But I don't feel I should jump down a player's throat and stop him from doing things," the coach said. "I don't want to prevent a boy from feeling he can do things himself."

Heated Argument Turns Into Bite

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — Umpires and ball club managers often seem to bark at one another during their arguments. But what happens if the manager bites?

Manager Frederick A. Mansulla, 28, of Brockton in the Cranberry League, told a jury he did bite the umpire, Edgar J. Pidgeion, during an argument over a called third strike. He said Pigeion twisted his thumb.

Pidgeion testified he grabbed Mansulla's thumb to keep from falling "after I was pushed by

The jury acquitted the manager.

Scribe Feels He Missed Boat By Not Being A Goose Hunter

STEVENS

Embarrassing moments in an outdoor writer's life. . . . When a faithful reader calls and asks about a certain phase of hunting or fishing, and you suddenly realize that your knowledge is sadly lacking.

Thus it was when a call came in requesting information on a good area to hunt geese, how many decoys should one have and what size shot—things like that. I found I was unable to give my caller more than a very sketchy story of a goose hunt. Oh, I have hunted geese (unsuccessfully) on two occasions only. Once near Robins, and once near Gustine.

ON THE GUSTINE hunt we shot from an irrigation ditch in a cut-over corn field, but no geese came in. On the Robins hunt, I was one of a party of four who had "stations" in a long trench the owner of the land had dug jst for goose hunting. It was one of those days when the tule fog hung close to the ground. We heard the noisy calls of what must have been immense flocks of geese, above us — so close it would seem one could just fire into the air and be certain of tumbling through the fog a number of geese.

A couple of the group — experienced goose callers — managed to entice some geese (all snows) and scored as a result — but I never did more than send my number 4 shot into the fog. So all I could tell my caller was what I have written.

HOWEVER, RECENTLY I received in the mail the gallery sheets of the first proof of a tale of goose hunting in the magazine Field and Stream. It was written by Larry Green and sure makes me wish I had paid more attention to goose hunting in the days gone by. One thing that struck me, Green mentions that he and his party shot behind 2,000 goose decoys and another group of hunters had staked around 3,000 more decoys, making a total of 5,000 goose decoys in one fairly small area.

Naturally, to have a successful shoot you must take your stance in the region used by geese, and one (just one, I'm sorry) person who, I believe, still knows good locales to set up a goose hunt is Ten Andronico, of Franks Resort on Bethel Island. I can see no logical reason why an irrigation ditch along the goose flight path shouldn't be a good spot to work. But apparently more — many more — decoys are needed than are owned by the average hunter, so try asking others to join you in a goose hunt, and, above all . . . read that article by Larry Green entitled "Late Season Snows" in the December issue of Field and Stream. If it doesn't send the sporting blood racing through your veins I'm badly mistaken.

IF YOU PREFER the rod to the gun, here is some timely news. A member of the Castro Valley Rod and Gun Club called to stress the fact that the club will hold one of its famous "Challenge" bass derbies this weekend. A 2-day affair open to all who have bought a ticket. Runs for two days and the winners will be compensated with swell prizes. Fish anywhere, but weigh in only at the Rodeo Marina. Whether you live in Marin, Sonoma, or the South Counties, here's a good chance to cop cash or a merchandise prize.

Menlo Coach Accused Of Embezzling

REDWOOD CITY (UPI) — The basketball coach at Menlo-Atherton High School has been accused of embezzling $500 in school funds.

A warrant issued yesterday by San Mateo County Dist. Atty. Keith Sorenson also accused William M. Loftus of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Loftus, suspended by the school district pending the outcome of the case, said there was no foundation to the charges.

The warrant charged Loftus, 41, with getting $35 each from would-be advertisers in a basketball program that was never printed. It also said he obtained $40 from any school that wanted to play his team.

Loftus said the program had always been printed in the past "but for some reason wasn't this year." He said the money was used for team expenses.

Playoff Game In Oakland If Teams Tie

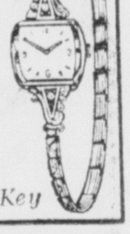

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York and Oakland won the toss as host cities for Dec. 31 playoffs in the event of deadlocks in both divisions of the American Football League.

The New York Jets lead the Houston Oilers by a single game in the Eastern Division race. Each club has four games remaining on the regular season.

The Western Division race is even closer as the Oakland Raiders cling to a half-game margin over the San Diego Chargers. The two meet Sunday in a critiel encounter and then have three remaining games to decide the issue.

Owners of the four contending teams met here yesterday to decide on playoff dates and sites. A playoff would push the AFL title game back to Jan. 7. The Super Bowl Classic against the National Football League champion is slated for Jan. 14 in Miami.

Warriors Winning Fans With Their New Style

This is the sixth pro basketball season for the Warriors in the west. Without Rick Barry, it was supposed to be a dismal campaign. Instead, the Warriors are enjoying thier best season start since moving to the Golden Gate from Philadelphia in 1962.

More importantly, the Warriors are winning new fans because of the kind of basketball they play. For the first time in their six western campaigns, the Warriors now play basketball as a team.

In the era of Wilt Chamberlain, fans got bored watching other members of the team work the ball to the big fellow for a stuffer or fallaway bank shot. Whatever it was, it wasn't basketball.

SO FRANKLIN MIEULI dealt Chamberlain back to Philadelphia (the 76ers) for a bundle of cash and three players. "Nobody in his right mind trades names like Chamberlain," cracked eastern critics.

Mieuli knew very well what he was doing and he followed up the Chamberlain trade with a couple of other key personnel changes. He hired Bill Sharman to replace Alex Hannum as coach. Hannum didn't want to conduct summer basketball sessions for the team. Then, Mieuli unloaded Guy Rodgers to Chicago.

RODGERS WAS a ball handling wizard but his style of play clashed with Sharman's idea of team play as learned in the Red Auerbach school during 11 campaigns with the Boston Celtics. So Rodgers became expendable.

Before the current season started, nobody really believed that Barry, too, would become expendable. But he has without any great detriment to the Warriors. Indeed, the Warriors now are playing better team basketball than ever.

IT ISN'T JUST a case of a balanced offense. The Warriors now know how to apply a smothering defense. Sharman is a firm believer in defensive victories when the team's sharpshooters encounter temporary target problems.

However, Warrior sharpshooters haven't been off target often this season. In fact, five or more of them have been scoring in double figures in almost every game played thus far in the 1967-68 campaign.

MIEULI KNOWS this is the kind of basketball preferred by fans of the area. He knows because he makes it his business to be sure. He always is on the move at every basketball game, checking the reaction of fans.

Mieuli listens patiently to lots of advice. But when it comes time to make a decision, Mieuli does that alone. He's been through a lot of ups and downs with the Warriors since purchasing them (with limited partners) for $850,000 in 1962.

THAT WAS AN inflated price because the year before the Chicago basketball franchise sold for $250,000.

"You can't apply strict profit and loss technique to sports," says Mieuli. "You run it with your heart."

But it's also nice to know that National Basketball Association franchises now are worth $1.7 million. That's what San Diego and Seattle paid for NBA memberships this year.

Raiders Undecided On Backs

OAKLANDS, (UPI) — Oakland Raider coach Johnny Rauch still is not sure how he'll juggle his running backs in Sunday's crucial at San Diego to make up for the absence of Clem Daniels.

Pete Banaszak replaced Daniels brilliantly in the Thanksgiving win over Kansas City and will probably start again. But Rauch admits that the two-fullback backfield of Hewritt Dixon and Roger Hagberg might see plenty of action, too. And speedster Larry Todd, who has looked good every time he has played for the Raiders but hardly ever plays, might get the call.

Word from San Diego is that the game will be a sellout as the two teams battle for first place in the Western Division. The Oaks took a 51-10 romp over San Diego earlier this season, but would settle for a one-point win this time around. In fact, the odds-makers have called them a one-point favorite.

San Diego has an explosive offense built around speedsters such as flanker Lance Alworth, rookie Dick Post, and runback star Speedy Duncan.

Lance Alworth Back In Lineup

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) —Flanker Lance Alworth will play for the San Diego Chargers in Sunday's American Football League game against Oakland in San Diego.

Coach Sid Gillman said yesterday that the pulled calf muscle in Alworth's left leg has been responding to treatment and the all-AFL receiver will be in the starting lineup.

Alworth caught 10 passes for 213 yards in the Chargers' 51-10 loss to Oakland Oct. 29.

Saunders Favored In Cajun

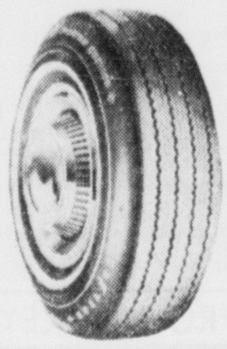

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — The $35,000 Cajun Classic Golf Tournament opens today with dapper Doug Sanders ranked as the favorite.

Other former Cajun champions in the field included Jackie Cupit, Miller Barber, Babe Hiskey and Lafayette's two golfing brothers, Lionel and Jay Hebert—the only brothers to win the coveted PGA crown.

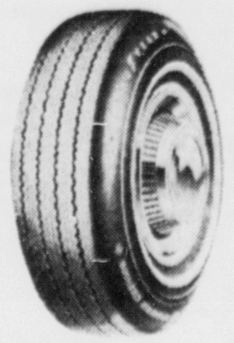

Deane Beman and Dale Douglass both finished yesterday with five-under-par 67s over the 6,550-yard Oakbourne Country Club layout in the pro-am to split top money, each pocketing $230.

Auto dealer Treavor Beecham stole the show, however. He put up a new car as a special hole-in-one prize, then went out in the pro-am and aced the fourth hole. But he then disqualified himself, leaving the special prize still up for grabs.

Beecham's ace was a nine-iron shot to the green of the 138-yard hole. The ball, after two bounces, popped into the cup.

Football Injury Study Proposed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — National Football League owners are being urged to dip in their pockets and finance an athletic research institute to study the cause and possible solution of injuries which are crippling many of the game's top stars.

G. E. "Moose" Detty, trainer, and Dr. James E. Nixon, team physician, both of the Philadelphia Eagles, have submitted a plan they are prepared to implement if they can get the go-ahead from the owners.

The idea of such an institute came to light yesterday in a discussion with Detty about the many injuries, especially to knees and the Achilles tendon, which have laid low outstanding players this season.

KNEE INJURIES

There have been 18 players sidelined for the season at various stages because of knee injuries, and at least four others are victims of torn Achilles tendons. Broken arms, legs, elbows, and back injuries are others that have forced out valuable properties all over the league.

"Take the Achilles tendon injury for example," said Detty. "In my experience as a trainer I can remember only two, one to Bob St. Clair at San Francisco and the other to Alan Ameche at Baltimore.

"This season we have had such injuries to Fred Whittingham of New Orleans, Rosey Grier of the Rams, Elijah Pitts of Green Bay, and Harry Wilson of the Eagles. Why this outbreak of Achilles tendon tears?

SHOES

"Maybe it has something to do with the shoes they're wearing, maybe it's diet. The institute could look into this. It would be a cheap investment considering the possible result."

The knee injury also came in for some detailed discussion.

"If we can shoot a TV camera up to the moon, control it and have it sending us pictures, then it would seem obvious," said Detty, "that the intelligence and brainpower that made this possible, if applied to devising a knee brace to be worn as protective gear just like shoulder pads and helmets, we could come up with something quite satisfactory."

Asked what he felt caused so many knee injuries and what could be done to guard against or prevent them, Detty said: "First, players have to condition their legs in the off season, create greater strength in the area.

BLOCKING

"Also, maybe the league ought to take a look at such maneuvers as the crackback block where players are subject to sharp angle and blind side blocks."

Detty said the cleats may have something to do with it—"maybe they are too long, or allow the foot to become embedded too firmly in the turf. Maybe we need a modified rubber cleat or perhaps a soccer-type cleat, or no cleat at all."

Detty mentioned the turf as a possible contributing factor to knee injuries. He said Bermuda grass entangles the cleats more than merion blue grass.

Detty said dual purpose stadiums—football and baseball—were the worst places to play football. These, he said, have grass of different types, scraped infields, sodded infields. The turf is loose, he noted.

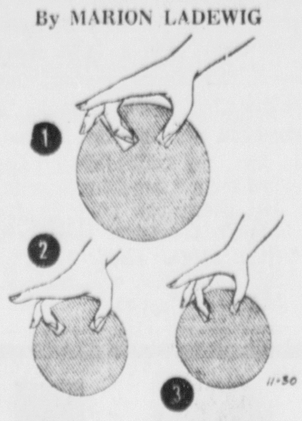

Sacramento Cage Coach Gets Okay

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Everett Shelton will coach again this season—for the 45th and last time.

Shelton, 69, who suffered a heart attack last month, yesterday received permission from doctors to return to coaching at Sacramento State, where he has coached the past eight seasons.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

There are three basic types of grip for a bowling ball. The one shown in sketch No. 1 is called the Conventional. I recommend it for most women bowlers, for it is the easiest to control with a minimum of practice. No. 2 is the Fingertip grip. It is used by the professionals and other good bowlers who have better-than-average co-ordination and the time to practice regularly. No. 3 is the Semi-Fingertip. It is easier to control than the Fingertip because more of the fingers are inserted into the holes. Some average bowlers who want to get more strikes on fair hits will advance to this grip after working with the Conventional for a while.

Our red velvet bag isn't the reason to give our Bourbon.

Our Bourbon is the reason to give our Bourbon.

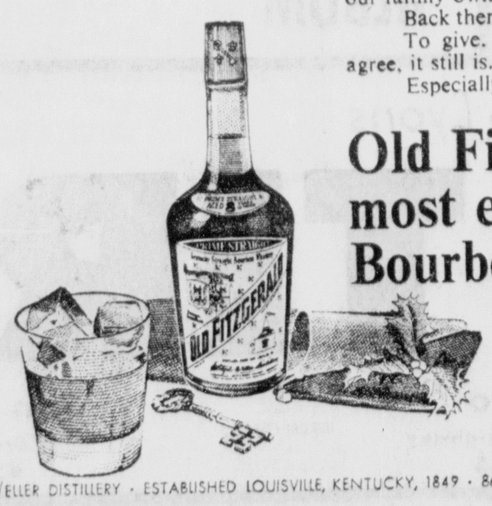

Though it may be old-fashioned, we still handmake Old Fitzgerald.

Just the same way we did 118 years ago when our family owned distillery was founded.

Back then, it was considered a pretty special gift.

To give. Or to receive. And, we think you'll agree, it still is.

Especially in red velvet.

Old Fitzgerald...is the most expensively made Bourbon in Kentucky.

Nervous Investor: Hold Stable Stocks

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I've been trading for the last four years, trying to build up a little capital. Although I've been lucky, it's been making me very nervous because I can't afford to lose the little I have. Right now I own Data-Control; Lehigh Valley Products; United Nuclear. All are very volatile. As soon as the market corrects itself I would like to sell these and buy something better that you suggest. What bo you think of American Telephone; Talcott; EG&G; American Research? — A.M.

A. I'm very glad that you have been lucky, but if you're getting nervous, it is certainly time to revise your thinking considerably. We have been having a modest correction and I believe it's a pretty good time to sell the secondary issues you hold and get into less-volatile issues of higher quality. Your present holdings all have reasonably good speculative possibilities, but it may be some time before they work out.

In place of them I suggest that you forego present income and concentrate on issues that can enhance your capital in the years ahead. American Telephone, I believe, is going to work out well and I recommend it. I wouldn't buy Talcott or any other factoring company under present money conditions. EG&G and American Research are good, but high priced and I would avoid them now. As substitutes I suggest Del Monte and Colgate-Palmolive, both strong and stable stocks with rising earnings patterns.

Q. What is your opinion of silver stocks? We own Hecla and Fresnillo and are considering buying more. — E.K.

A. I think well of silver stocks, but I know of none that produce that metal alone. Most also mine lead and zinc, which are not doing so well. Your stocks are reasonably good, but you must remember that Fresnillo is a Mexican company with other interests than silver and Hecla produces lead and zinc as well as the white metal.

FIFTY TONS OF NEW EQUIPMENT — This array of new pressroom equipment was delivered on four trailers within the last week to Shirley's Translucent Forms, San Rafael, for expansion of its printing operations into multi-color work for magazines, brochures and trade publications. Bill Shirley (right) shows Holiday Magic cosmetic firm owner William Penn Patrick how he will be able to take care of the company's entire printing requirements.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Shirley's Translucent Forms Is Adding New Printing Equipment

There is considerable major installation work going on these days at Shirley's Translucent Forms plant in San Rafael.

This is the new name that now replaces both the former Gilbert-Shirley Co. and Translucent Forms Co., which together have constituted the printing and duplicating business of Bill Shirley at 580 Irwin Street.

The whole thing got its big impetus about a year ago when Shirley captured a choice account by picking up the volume printing business of the rapidly growing Holiday Magic cosmetic company, whose recent needs seem to be expanding more than ever. For the past year he has been running two and three shifts a day to take care of the firm's requirements and also his previously established forms and printing business.

The Shirley plant now comprises three buildings totaling over 33,000 square feet, including 12,000 square feet in the adjoining building of Crown Development Co. This is rather an amazing growth in itself when you consider that 10 years ago Shirley occupied only a small sales office on Fourth Street. His tax forms business extends over half of the United States.

Within the last week he has moved in 50 tons of new printing equipment, which when installed, will enable him to do something like $3 million of printing a year in black and white and four-color work for magazines, brochures, trade publications and similar jobs.

Shirley has just acquired a new $300,000 rotary offset press from the Western Gear Corp. in Los Angeles, described as "four perfecting units, with a gas oven and a folder and a sheeter" which will turn out 22,000 sheets in color (printed on both sides) — or 64 pages in black and white. He says it is one of six such presses on the Pacific Coast and will place him in a position to pick up work that is "farmed out" by other plants, as well as handle all of Holiday Magic's printing for some time to come.

He plans on having everything in operation by the middle of January and then expects to be using a carload of paper a week.

A NEW architectural and planning office is being opened at 1306 Bridgeway, Sausalito by Michael Wornum of Mill Valley, who hopes to be in it by the first of next week. Recently he has been working for Williams, Cook and Mocine in San Francisco and will continue doing some designing for this firm. Previously he had his own office in the city for eight years.

WILLIAM F. WARD of Mill Valley, whose voice is the one you hear on Saturday mornings over KTIM Radio, has sold his Record Shack business on Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, to Ronald W. Davis, who also lives in that city. Formerly a commercial artist in San Francisco, Davis will keep the same store name and increase record stock substantially for the Christmas season. Eventually he hopes to build up inventories to three times their present size on a permanent basis.

AMSTERDAM (UPI)—Dutchmen are eating more chocolate candy, according to the cocoa industry. Latest figures show the average Dutchman consumed more than 10 pounds in 1966, an increase of nearly one pound over the previous year.

Running Your Schools Over The Coffee Cups

There are many ways for officials to evade their responsibility and legal obligation for conducting the public's business in public.

One way is for members of the official board to gather beforehand — perhaps at breakfast, luncheon or just over the drinks — and decide what they will do at their next public meeting.

This is the way taken on Monday of this week by the San Rafael Board of Education, when two of its members, Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. and Herman L. Childress, met with Supt. John F. Plank for "background information" on matters to come up at Tuesday night's regular board meeting.

Moreover, according to both Kramer, who is board president, and Plank, this has been done more or less regularly. And they plan to continue it.

WE ARE NOT SURPRISED.

The breakfast session for a briefing of two board members by the superintendent seems unimportant. But it is part of a pattern.

The San Rafael Board of Education for many years has not regarded itself as bound by either law or public policy to conduct its business openly.

The board holds frequent closed sessions "to discuss hiring" during its regularly scheduled board meetings. Since employees are leaving and new ones being hired almost the year around in a school system the size of San Rafael's, this is difficult to challenge. But many things besides hiring have been discussed at those closed sessions.

In fact, the public sessions of the board have sometimes been little more than empty shows, virtually devoid of discussion, at which approval is rubber-stamped by unanimous vote on decisions that were made secretly.

The board's contempt for the public has been further demonstrated by the manner in which campaigns for election to the board have been conducted.

Candidates, in many cases, have made excuses to escape appearing on public platforms where what they said would be open to challenge and might be reported in the press, preferring to do their campagning at private "coffee hours" where their pronouncements would not be subjected to public discussion.

It is to the shame of San Rafael voters that this type of campaigning has proved largely successful.

THE RATIONALE for the breakfast sessions offered by Kramer and Plank is that these are so that the board president (Kramer) and vice president (Childress) will have better background on the matters to be discussed at the upcoming board meeting.

Apparently it does not occur to Kramer, Childress and Plank that the other three members of the board — Carl J. Brown, Paul L. Jones and John C. Pfeiffer — are equally entitled to this background.

Obviously it does not occur to them that the public also is entitled to the information on which the board bases its decisions.

Section 54950 of the California Government Code says: "The people, in delegating authority, do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for them to know."

Kramer and Plank suggested the breakfast meetings are not illegal because not a quorum of the board is present.

THE LEGALITY of the breakfast meetings is questionable.

But there can scarcely be any question about the attitude they evidence toward the other three board members and the public.

Frantic Holidays

All at once the holidays are upon us. This should be a time of tranquility, but for most of us it is a far from tranquil season.

Rather it is a time of hectic shopping, of overeating, of much decorating, of head-scratching over Christmas cards and gifts to be given. It is a happy hustle-bustle of people coming and going from each other's homes.

Yes, the joyful holidays are anything but tranquil. Marinites, by and large, are in a carefree, happy holiday mood. Come to think of it, joy is not a very tranquil emotion. Joy is jumping up and down. Tranquility is watching quietly.

"Now, what shall we decide at the public meeting, boys?"

Soviet Union Behind New 'Peace Drive'

By PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union, through two of the "peace organizations" that it sponsors, is playing an increasingly important role in arranging worldwide anti-Vietnam war demonstrations against the U. S.

These violent protests, ranging from last month's attack on the Pentagon to the demonstrations in Grosvenor Square in London, are only the beginning of a carefully planned series.

IN THIS MASSIVE psychological warfare operation, the biggest the Russians have launched since the Korean war, "forthcoming events" until the end of the year are known to include:

Using Dec. 10, first day of the United Nations "Human Rights Year," for further anti-American demonstrations both in this country and abroad.

Organizing a third round of pre-Christmas worldwide international protest meetings on Dec. 20, anniversary of the founding of the South Vietnamese National Liberation Front.

A plan to present to the United Nations and U. S. ambassadors petitions calling for a holiday halt to U. S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Violent attacks on U. S. embassies and personnel along with destruction of U. S. Information Agency libraries.

As pieced together by the Central Intelligence Agency and Federal Bureau of Investigation, the evidence shows Russia guiding, controlling, and helping to finance these anti-American activities through the World Congress for Peace and its Vienna-based secretariat, the International Institute of Peace.

ACCORDING TO THE ICA, the acttics of these Red peace organizations are directed toward exploiting the genuine concern of many non-Communists about the war in Vietnam and creating the impression of a broad popular front of anti-U. S. feelings in foreign countries.

Plans for these anti-U.S. activities were drawn up in Moscow last spring. Details were outlined by Stepan Moldtsov, a Russian member of the World Congress of Peace, to delegates from peace groups throughout the world at a "Vietnam Conference" in Stockholm on July 6-9.

In recent weeks, instructions for the December anti-U. S. activities have been going to peace groups over the signatures of Bohumil Svoboda and Walter Diehl, both Moscow-trained members of the International Institute of Peace with headquarters in Vienna.

THE BURMESE PUZZLE — Both the U. S. and Russia are supplying Burma with new arms.

The unannounced shipments are being made on the request of General Ne Win's government, which claims the country faces the threat of a Peking-fomented "people's war."

To meet the emergency Burmese appeal, both U. S. and USSR are diverting arms from the Vietnam war, strange as this may seem.

U. S. intelligence sources say the Soviets diverted to Rangoon one shipload of arms last month destined for North Vietnam. Others are believed to be en route.

American transport planes have been flying weapons to Burma since the White House approved the first shipments about mid-October. U. S. pilots also have begun instructing Burmese fliers in the use of recently supplied F-86 fighters.

Burmese authorities have flatly refused to allow U. S. military officers to see how and where the American arms are being used.

Medi-Cal Reform Appears Dead Until Next Year

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The complicated problem of straightening out the Medi-Cal situation for which a special session of the state Legislature was called by Gov. Ronald Reagan may be put over until next year.

A resolution introduced by Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, calls for a moratorium of either legislative or administrative action affecting the program until the 1968 session. While the moratorium is in effect, a special, joint legislative committee, whoch would be bipartisan, would seek to determine what shape the program is in and the amount of deficit for the fiscal year.

DEVELOPMENTS indicate it will be almost impossible for the Legislature to accomplish anything constructive in relation to Medi-Cal for the remainder of the year.

The administration several times has revised its estimate of the anticipated deficit in the funds allocated for operation of the program. It follows that the Legislature, confronted with several sets of figures ranging all the way from 37 to 210 million dollars, is in need of accurate information.

Meanwhile, the Legislature is not in a mood to give the administration carte blanche to operate the program as it sees fit. This reluctance stems partially from the fact that politics has entered the picture, with Democrats challenging the good faith of the administration. And as Democrats control the Assembly, it's obvious that they can and probably will halt Governor Reagan's program.

And if the Legislature halts the program, the administration has two alternatives: to continue extensive curtailments or to run up a higher deficit for the end of the fiscal year, which would have to be made good with a deficiency appropriation.

THE SITUATION is one which is not enviable. No matter what or who caused it to arise, it exists and cannot be side-stepped for long.

The public will suffer in one way or another, through higher taxes or decreased medical care.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

U.S. Gold Reserve Figure Misleading

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I have been following the articles on the British action in devaluing the pound (which is just another way of saying that they have raised the price of gold) in the I-J and other newspapers.

I call particular attention to paragraph 5 in your article on the front page of Saturday's I-J.

This article, in parentheses, states that the USA "has a massive $29 billion in gold reserves." This is $4.4 billion more than we had in September of 1949, which was the high point in our treasury stock of gold. Quoting from the statistics on page 14 of the November, '67, issue of the California Mining Journal, our gold reserve as of Oct. 5, 1967, stands at $13,009,091,046.

Can it be explained how, in the seven weeks since the U. S. Treasury released the $13 billion figure, the U. S. Treasury managed to acquire approximately $16 billions of additional gold reserve?

And all of this in the face of a $330-plus billion national debt, and some $33 billions in short-term demands (paper dollars in foreign hands) outstanding!

The last quotation I have from Pick's World Currency Report is September '67, which shows that the free market price of gold was $55.50 per ounce in Bombay, India, and $41.60 in Hong Kong. Is it any wonder that foreign nations would rather buy our gold at $35 per ounce than to buy our merchandise? This is the world's best bargain — and our President has again vowed to sell gold to all comers at $35 per ounce. Correction — he will sell to foreign governments and banks at that price, but John Q. Citizen is forbidden to own gold, except for jewelry and in coin collections! The only exception to the jewelry and in collection rule is natural placer gold. Private individuals may own limited amounts of this gold.

What happens, Mr. President, when we run out of gold?

Thanksgiving Day Hospitality Praised

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would like to express my appreciation to your readers for the gratifying number of Thanksgiving invitations that were received by the personnel of Hamilton Air Force Base. So great was the number of requests that not all of them could be accepted.

This has confirmed what we have long known — that Marin is a most hospitable county.

An Unsigned Letter

The Independent-Journal does not use unsigned letters in its "Readers Say" column. We insist that writers sign their names to indicate their willingness to "stand up and be counted" in this forum in print.

However, occasionally an unsigned letter arrives which contains something we feel should be published despite violating this rule. Such is the case with one received this week supporting the earlier letter of Mrs. Betty Griffith regarding speakers at San Rafael High School advocating marijuana use.

Included in the unsigned letter was this:

"I know by past experience as I have a son. At 17 he started on marijuana. It led to methedrine and other pills and on to heroin. That started crime with him, and he is now in a state institution for criminals. He ruined his future and once, he almost lost his life. Marijuana should be a felony."

DeGaulle Not Alone Against Dollar Standard

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Just a week after the world felt the first impact of Britain's devaluation of the pound sterling, President Charles de Gaulle of France renewed his personal drive against the U.S. dollar.

In Paris, the immediate result was another frenzied day in the French gold market which set a record in the turnover of gold.

New York and London markets reacted more calmly and New York bankers took the view they found nothing new in his demand for a return to an international gold standard.

DE GAULLE LONG has made known his distaste for a monetary system which made the dollar and the British currencies the measure of all other currencies around the world, claiming that it gave them, and especially the United States, an unnatural advantage both economically and politically.

It was at a news conference on Feb. 4, 1965, that De Gaulle first proposed a return to an international gold standard.

He attacked the present system and declared that "the result for certain countries is a sort of expropriation of some of their business firms" by U.S. companies abroad.

In the back of his mind were the 1964 acquisition by General Electric of Machines Bull, France's only sizable computer company, and the earlier acquisition of Simca auto by Chrysler.

LAST JAN. 7, Michel Debre, one-time premier and present minister of economy and finance, brought forth a second argument.

It was that the value of the dollar had declined since the end of World War II but that the value of the dollar as against the price of gold had been unchanged since 1934.

De Gaulle repeated the argument at this week's news conference when he declared the United States was exporting its inflation to Europe.

De Gaulle is not alone in his fears and his objections to the system in force today. There are others who believe the United States should clear up its own financial house.

But most of these same forces also disagree with De Gaulle's proposed solution. A return to the inflexible gold standard, they say, only would restore the chaotic conditions prevailing before the great U.S. depression of the early 30's.

Iargue this way — if a man is right, he can't be too radical; if he is wrong, he can't be too conservative. — Josh Billings.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

They say a farm boy from upstate New York wandered by accident into Tiffany's on his first sightseeing trip to Manhattan. He gazed in awe at all the bangles and beads, and was literally in a daze when a suave clerk asked if there was anything he could do for him. "Heck, no," exclaimed the farm boy with profound feeling. "I never did see so many durn things I could plum do without!"

OVERHEARD:

At a ringside table in a very expensive night club: "Don't you ever let anybody tell you you're just a silly old man, Mr. Gold. Why, you can write bigger checks than a lot of fellows I know half your age!"

At a coffee shop: "They make a perfect couple. He's a pill and she's a headache."

YOUTH LEADS TO SOLVING OF AGE-OLD PUZZLE

How the 9th century Vikings could navigate so accurately, even when sun and stars were obscured by clouds, has long puzzled scientists. It took a 10-year-old Danish boy to find the answer.

The youth got his idea after he read a magazine article describing the so-called "sun stones" used by the early Viking sailors.

To him they sounded very much like the twilight compass. This device has a Polaroid filter that enables pilots to find the sun on cloudy days in latitudes where the magnetic compass is unreliable.

The boy's father contacted the author of the article, who searched until he found a transparent crystal called cordierite, which turns from yellow to dark blue when held at a certain angle to the sun. With such a "sun stone," the ancient mariners could have navigated with considerable accuracy.

Youth can have insight overlooked by their more preoccupied elders. They are a gift of God, and as such are to be nourished, and respected.

"There are varieties of gifts, but the same Spirit."

(1 Conrinthians 12:4)

Never let me close my mind, Holy Spirit, to new ideas, whether they come from young or old.

You can't build a reputation on what you are going to do. — Henry Ford.

Loyalty is a beautiful idea, but you cannot create it by compulsion and force . . . You make men love their government and their country by giving them the kind of government and the kind of country that inspire respect and love. — Zechariah Chafee Jr.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ROSS DAVIS

Fire Station Stays Volunteer As Councilman Changes Mind

Corte Madera, which officially refers to itself as a town instead of a city, has an un-townlike growing pain in the area of its fire department.

This called for, and got, a diagnosis. Charles F. Pendleton, who is half of the town council's fire committee, reckoned the East Corte Madera fire substation — though manned by volunteers — is vulnerable when it comes to split-minute daytime service including emergency resuscitator calls.

He and the other half of the committee, Harold B. Wagstaff, prescribed the treatment by recommending that the council inject two paid hands into the well-liked volunteer crew already at the station.

THEIR RECOMMENDATION was presented last week ot the council, but Wagstaff caused a miscarriage of the recommendation. After soul-searching and second thoughts, he said, he decided that addition of paid firemen at this time "might be the beginning of the watering down of the spirit" of the volunteers.

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst joined Wagstaff. The volunteer system — notwithstanding three paid firemen including the chief already at the main station — is the "best system for now," he declared.

Colthurst further cautioned, "don't muddy the water" by mixing hired firemen with the volunteers. Because, he said, Corte Madera right now is getting maximum efficiency.

Councilman William W. Collier concurred "at this time," leaving Pendleton with only his half of the prescription and neighboring councilman to his left, H. S. Norville. Norville bolstered the hiring plan by declaring the time has been reached for Corte Madera to decide whether to augment the department with more paid firemen.

He and Pendleton were defeated 3-2.

WAGSTAFF SEEMS nothing if not conscientious about his mind-change. Himself an active member of the volunteers from 1954 until becoming a councilman, he said his re-evaluation was not limited to consideration of department spirit. A second factor, he said, was a determination by some — including himself — that Corte Madera should make a concerted effort to attract volunteers from the East side who would be available during daylight hours.

He said a main problem at the substation has been that the limited number of volunteers go to regular jobs elsewhere during these hours. A solid effort at getting volunteer opplicants who could alternate for daytime service should fill the need, he added.

Wagstaff also decided the argument that two paid men would provide instant resuscitator and other emergency aid that could not otherwise be had is no wholly valid. Trucks from the main station can reach East Corte Madera as speedily as they can reach the summit of Corte Madera Hill up Redwood Avenue, he said.

THE NUMBER of volunteers fluctuates around 23 men. three or four of these are usually at the substation, plus two "sleepers," normally students but who are dependable through a checkk-in-and out system during class hours. Volunteers get pay only for calls and drills, Wagstaff said, a system costing the town from $25,000 to $30,000 yearly.

"If we embark on this bit of paid men," added he, "there is really no end in sight until we have a completely paid department." This, he said, could cost about $200,000 annually, and "I question if we should now encumber the town with that additional tax load when we are getting excellent fire protection.

So when should the town again considering hiring firemen? At least not until budget-studying time around April, replied Wagstaff.

Race Identity Draws Criticism

LOS ANGELES (AP)— State college officials are balking at a federal requirement that students identify themselves by race on application forms for admission.

The education policy committee of the Board of Trustees of the California State Colleges asked yesterday that Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke determine the consequences of ignoring the regulation.

To enforce the Civil Rights Act of 1964, an ethnic breakdown of students is required by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The act prohibits discrimination in federally supported programs.

Marijuana, Viet Vote By Students

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In a peaceful demonstration of their feelings, 7,135 University of California at Los Angeles students turned out to vote on Vietnam, marijuana and other controversial subjects.

Student response was so great yesterday that the campus referendum was being continued today.

MORRIE RYSKIND

There's No Business Like Show Business—Except Politics

One of my favorite songs is Irving Berlin's "There's No Business Like Show Business," and I never fail to get nostalgic bang out of hearing it. To anyone ever connected with the entertainment world in whatever capacity, it is the sentimental equivalent of the "Alma Mater" hymn to a college alumnus.

Nevertheless, I suggest there is another profession — maybe still Number Two in the field, but not far away from the Number One spot — that is getting to be more and more like what Variety affectionately calls "show biz." And that is politics.

IT ISN'T ONLY that George Murphy and Ronald Ragan have entered a domain from which actors were once barred — just as they were for years not welcomed at the best hotels. There is some evidence that the President, who neither danced on the stage nor ever starred in a film, is not averse to adopting some of the tactics of show biz.

For LBJ, I am reliably informed, is careful to present only his better profile to the camera, just as many a movie star is. And when Dick Nixon starts campaigning, you can bet there'll be no tell-tale 5 o'clock shadow on his face this time.

And there is the revelation that some polls recently leaked by the White House to indicate the current resident is still first in the hearts of his countrymen were just another way of putting his best face forward. For the polls were taken in Democraic counties so rock ribbed that even if the Republicans offered Abe Lincoln in opposition, the GOP candidate would be lucky to get a vote.

AGAIN, THAT IS show biz. When the play proved a flop, the manager, searching desperately through the reviews for something quotable, was often compelled to exercise considerable ingenuity.

Thus George Jean Nathan might have written: "There is no cause for Thanksgiving in this turkey. I sat there incredibly dismayed by a mishmash that threatened to ruin an otherwise beautiful season."

That quotation — in full — would obviously not sell tickets. Still, by judicious pruning, it could be made to sell well. And the ad would proclaim:

". . .Cause for Thanksgiving . . .Incredibly . . . beautiful." —George Jean Nathan.

The Shuberts, in their heyday, had another ace up their sleeves. As the curtain came down on an opening night of one of their musicals, the marquee would already emblazon in bold lights "Best extravaganza of modern times" — with the name of a certain critic attached thereto. The critic had obviously written his review several days — or maybe years — in advance. The gentleman has long since departed for Valhalla, but his ESP is still proverbial among old-timers.

SO BROADWAY and Hollywood are not surprised that LBJ's legislative staff has just issued a report that finds his administration bordering on the miraculous. If said report does not stress some minor disturbances in Vietnam and in our city streets, nor note that the colossal increase in our debt burden compels the government to borrow at a higher rate of interest than in some 50 years, it may be attributed to the fact that the President sees little value in destructive criticism.

Hollywood used to have a gentleman who was retained by a famous producer solely because of his ability to look on the bright side. If a film on which the movie tycoon had spent several million was received unfavorably at a sneak preview, the executive staff would be summoned to a hasty conference.

Each was told to speak freely, and the complaints would vary from the trivial to the significant. One might note that the heroine, fleeing for her life through strange alleys, had escaped with her hairdo in perfect order; the director might feel that his most important scene had fallen flat and might ask to reshoot it.

And then the producer would ask the yes-man for his opinion — and it went unfailingly like this : "Don't cut a foot, chief! It's the best picture you ever made."

Yes, Mr. Berlin, there is another biz a good deal like show biz. And No. 2 has even more yes-men.
